U. S., France Seen Agreed On Proposal

Pineau and Dulles Confer On Problem And NATO Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France reportedly have agreed to a plan for supplying Tunisia with Western arms in such a way that French tempers can cool and they can catch up the Atlantic Alliance.

Diplomats said Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau reached the agreement during a three-hour talk at the State Department yesterday.

Dulles and Pineau covered other topics, including France's two-year fight against Algerian rebels and President Eisenhower's proposals to breathe new life into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Stevenson Sits In
Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, sat in on the NATO part of the talks. Stevenson is acting as Democratic consultant on plans to strengthen NATO.

Officials said Dulles and Pineau agreed that Western arms given must not be permitted to fall into the hands of rebels in neighboring Algeria.

They agreed to do this through close consultation among themselves, Britain and Tunisia. In the meantime, they hoped for a simmering down of what Pineau called "the great emotional reaction" among the people of France to last week's U. S.-British shipment of about 1,000 small arms to Tunisia despite bitter objections from the French government.

Pineau and Dulles apparently held off announcing their agreement to let French emotion cool off.

The consultations are expected to take into consideration any weapons received by Tunisia from other sources.

President Is Key Man

The key man in the plan appeared to be Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba. He has said he wants to buy his guns from Western nations. But he insists he must have enough arms to equip his 4,000-man army and, if the West does not supply them, he would accept military aid from anywhere, including the Soviet bloc.

Dulles told Pineau that Bourguiba had pledged that the weapons he got from America and Britain would not be transferred anywhere.

Storm Death Toll Hits 40

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather appeared back to near normal today, cold in most areas and a little wet in a few sections. Skies were partly cloudy to fair in most of the country.

This was in marked contrast to the three days of tornadoes, rain, snow and windstorms and floods in the Midwest and Southern areas.

The blustery weather since the weekend was blamed for at least 40 deaths. Damage to property and crops was extensive in Southern sections hit by tornadoes and floods.

Advocate Of 'Moderation' Target Of Blast At Home

GAFFNEY, S. C. (AP)—An explosion here last night shattered windows and cracked a wall in the home of a white woman who wrote part of a publication urging a moderate approach to racial problems.

Police found evidence indicating a dynamite time bomb caused the blast, which shook the neighborhood shortly after 9:30 p. m.

Dr. James H. Sanders, a native South Carolinian and resident of Gaffney for 31 years, said no one was injured in the explosion at his home, occupied by himself, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. McLaughlin, visitors from Louisville, Ky.

M'Elroy Gets Call In Quiz On Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) accused the administration today of withholding money appropriated for missile development. He called in defense officials for an accounting.

Summoned before that group for a quickly called closed-door session were Secretary of Defense McElroy and William Holaday, assistant to the secretary for missile development.

That action put the House one jump ahead of the Senate on an inquiry into where the United States stands with relation to Russia in the race to develop space-traveling weapons. A study is planned by the Senate preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), but it has not gone beyond the staff inquiry stage. Hearings start next week.

Shortly before Mahon's move was announced, Johnson had said the Senate group's course will be determined by the facts, not any political considerations.

"We want to know why the lag in U. S. missile development," Mahon told newsmen just before the House hearing started.

Asserting that the situation presents the executive department with "some of the gravest decisions of our time," Mahon said money appropriated by Congress in the past "was withheld by the executive from expenditure."

Firebug In Hotel Has Busy Night

NEW YORK (AP)—A busy firebug apparently kept pace with busy firemen in a Manhattan hotel last night. As they put out one blaze, another flared in a different part of the 15-story hotel Brierfield, 215 W. 83rd St. Nine fires in all were set.

Damage was most severe in the penthouse, but none of the fires were considered serious. Terrified tenants fled to the lobby. After the ninth fire was extinguished, two fire marshals were left at the hotel to keep watch.

Cool Weekend Weather Due

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Fair weather indicated except for some precipitation over the weekend. Rainfall will average one-half to one inch. Somewhat colder over the weekend, while temperatures for the period will average several degrees below normal. High vary from the mid 40s in the mountains to the low 50s in the east. Lows range from the mid 20s in Western Maryland to the upper 30s and low 40s in the east.

Two Airmen Escape After Jets Collide

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Two Air Force fighter pilots escaped miraculously last night when their Sabre Jets collided on a night training mission from Scott Air Force Base at Belleville.

"I don't remember much of what happened," said Lt. William R. McDaniel, 23, Fort Worth, Tex. "I think my plane hit another and exploded. I must have fallen from five miles up."

Lt. James H. Metz, Poplar Bluff, Mo., also managed to take to his parachute and landed in a plowed field barely hurt.

Mrs. Roland Scheutz, who lives on a farm at Mascoutah, Ill., found McDaniel lying on her back porch, bloody and nearly frozen.

"He was shivering and nervous and looked terrified," she said. The base hospital reported McDaniel had several cuts and a possible back injury but did not seem seriously hurt.

Faubus Opposes Guard At School

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas says he will not order state police or National Guardsmen in Arkansas to guard anyone in school.

However, the governor said yesterday, Arkansas National Guardsmen will have to carry out federal integration enforcement orders or "they will be court-martialed at the drop of a hat."

Texan Denies Being Drunk Aboard Plane

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—R. W. Milner, chairman of the Citizens Council of America in Texas Inc., was jailed on a drunk charge here last night after he was accused of creating a disturbance aboard a plane between New Orleans and Houston.

Milner, 49, an oilman, denied that he was drunk or created any trouble.

He was released on $5 bond after spending about an hour in City Jail.

He said he and a friend were returning to Houston from New Orleans where they had attended a Citizens Council rally addressed by Gov. Marvin Griffin (D-Ga.) and Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.).

The pilot of the National Airlines plane was Capt. C. J. Delk, 36, Miami Springs, Fla.

The pilot radioed ahead to Houston to have police meet the plane when it landed.

Delk said last night he would file a federal charge of creating a disturbance on an air carrier against Milner.

When Milner was booked by police a notation was filed by his name: "hold for federal authorities."

This hold order apparently was lifted because he was released on the $5 bond.

Big Check Fails To Pay Fine For Part-Time Cabbie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although he had a paycheck for nine million dollars, John N. Bachman couldn't pay a $25 speeding fine last night.

In fact, it wasn't until Bachman, a technical writer, tried to use the check to pay the fine that he noticed it was for $9,000,028.65.

Bachman took it back to the cab company which had issued it for him for some part-time work.

After the company made a correction, Bachman had $28.65, plus the $25 fine still to pay.

Union Fund For Aiding Hoffa Seen

Teamster Officials Reported Paying In For Defense 'Kitty'

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today that a legal defense fund which may reach two million dollars is being raised by officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters for the use of James R. Hoffa, the union's president-elect and other teamster officers.

The Tribune said this was disclosed by Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis, a Teamster international vice president.

Gibbons, who was not immediately available to confirm the Tribune story, was quoted as saying he hoped to receive $1,000 contributions from 2,000 union officers in 800 Teamster locals throughout the country and in Canada.

Could Be Used By Any
"This money could be used by Hoffa and any other Teamster who finds himself in trouble with the federal government and the Senate investigating committee," the Tribune quoted Gibbons.

"We decided to set up this little pool because all of us are being investigated and none of us has enough money to finance a legal defense."

He said the defense fund would be raised through promissory notes for $1,000 and a $40 interest payment that would be "made available" to all Teamster officers. The notes, to be paid at the rate of $44 a month for two years, are made payable to a St. Louis trust headed by Gibbons and six other Teamster officials, the St. Louis vice president said.

Gibbons said Hoffa never was consulted in the preliminary discussions about setting up the fund after the union's convention in Miami last month. He declined to disclose the names of the trust officers who would approve disbursements from the fund to Hoffa and other Teamsters.

Must Use Own Money
He added officers contributing to the fund will be required to use their own money and will not be permitted to accept reimbursement from their unions.

A federal court order in Washington has prevented Hoffa from assuming the union presidency. Hoffa, who has been criticized by Senate investigators because of his associations with hoodlums, also faces perjury and wiretapping charges in New York federal court.

G-Men Probe Gem Robbery

DETROIT (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation stepped in today in the investigation of a reported $500,000 diamond robbery in a downtown building lobby yesterday.

Charles Brown, Detroit FBI Chief, acted on the theory an attempt would be made to transport the stolen diamonds in interstate commerce, a federal violation.

Max Monderer, 47, New York gem merchant, told police a young man fired a tear gas gun into his face as he walked into the building yesterday, grabbed a satchel he dropped and fled in a car.

Murdered Mobster's Godson Faces 'Pen'

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government has taken steps to put Vincent J. Squillante, self-styled godson of murdered mobster Albert Anastasia and reputed garbage racket kingpin, in prison for the first time in his career.

The 5-foot-1 silent witness at last week's Senate hearings on gangster control of the garbage carting industry here was hauled into federal court yesterday and charged with violating probation by consorting with known criminals and hoodlums. He also was accused of concealing his 1956 income from the federal probation department.

Speed Blamed In Plunge Of B. & M. Train
MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—A state official and a union officer agreed today there was no trackside sign to warn the engineer to slow down before his train cracked up while highballing from Montreal to Boston at 70 m.p.h.

The wreck of the Boston & Maine train yesterday killed the engineer and fireman and injured 23 others.

A railroad spokesman said the train was traveling at an "excessive speed" at the time it jumped the tracks, smashed against a four-story brick warehouse, and scattered over the roadbed with the diesel engine plummeting off an 11-foot trestle.

The railroad said all crewmen on trains using that line had been warned that temporary tracks were in use and speed was to be reduced to 15 m.p.h.

Railroad officials said also that warning signs were posted in two places in advance of the crash scene.

Medical Group Hits Insurance For Pensioners
CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Assn. has announced its strong opposition to a bill in Congress to pay hospitalization and medical benefits to persons receiving Social Security benefits.

Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City, AMA president, said in a statement that "this proposal is clearly 'socialized medicine' for a segment of the American people."

Twelve to 13 million people now receiving Social Security payments would receive the hospitalization and medical benefits under terms of the bill introduced by Rep. Aime Forand (D-R.I.). Forand says the bill has been endorsed by the AFL-CIO.

Hike In Cigarette Smoking Seen In U. S. Outlook Report
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it is likely that Americans will consume about 15 per cent more cigarettes in 1965 than this year.

But the use of tobacco in making cigarettes may not increase more than 5 per cent, the agency said in an outlook report.

The forecast of the 15 per cent increase in use of cigarettes was based on the assumption that the controversial health aspect of cigarette smoking will have no prolonged adverse effects in consumption.

It also assumes that the number of male smokers will increase by about 10 per cent and female smokers at least 33 per cent.

The reason the usage of tobacco is not expected to increase as much as cigarette smoking is that processors are expected to use more and more of the leaf and stem that in the past was discarded.

Consumption of smoking tobacco in pipes and in roll-your-own cigarettes, which has been declining steadily since 1950, is expected to drop another 49 per cent by 1965.

Likewise, a further reduction of 15 per cent in consumption of chewing tobacco was forecast by the future date.

Probe Chief Says People Not Advised

Sputnik Advances Were Known, Moss Claims In Speech

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The top congressional investigator of government secrecy said today the Air Force got information of Russian satellite launching plans months ahead of time but "the American people were never forewarned."

Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) also said Robert Cutler, President Eisenhower's adviser on national security affairs, imposed a "blueprint of secrecy" on America's "missile-satellite deficiencies until Sputnik sailed across the skies."

Moss, chairman of a House subcommittee which rides herd on federal information practices, referred at one point to what he called "public-be-damned information policies" and said they must be eliminated.

Disputed By Snyder

Moss' views were sharply challenged by the Pentagon's information chief, Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder, who said the congressman "apparently subscribes to the myth that, for some reason, your defense officials spend all their spare time knitting paper curtains of secrecy around the facts of our military activities."

Both Moss and Snyder made their comments in speeches prepared for the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., which continues through Saturday.

Shortly before Moss and Snyder appeared, Frank Eyerly of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and president of the APME defined freedom of information as "simply an assertion of the individual's right to know."

Eyerly's definition came in the annual report of the APME president, a report largely concerned with restrictions on information.

"You and I," Eyerly told fellow editors, "know that there is a built-in propensity on the part of public officials, appointed or elected, at the level of the county or parish and ranging all the way up to Washington, to set up news barriers with the bland and sometimes arrogant assumption that a governmental servant knows better than the American people what is good for the people."

For two days this week, Snyder was a witness before the Moss subcommittee at Washington hearings in its continuing study of government information practices.

Appeals To Editors
Moss said the fight for the public's right to know must be unrelenting, as new threats arise continually. He appealed to the editors to help lift what he termed "the smug fog of secrecy."

Snyder, sharply critical of Moss, said that he found it "difficult" and so did newsmen covering the probation. He is the head of two weeks, to reconcile freedom of information objectives of this committee with Mr. Moss' refusal to permit "the Pentagon general counsel to 'refute an unsubstantiated indication.'"

West Wins Ballot Test In UN For Increasing Group

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has endorsed the West's efforts to keep disarmament talks going, but a new Soviet boycott threat promises complete breakdown of the perennially deadlocked negotiations.

A Western plan to increase the 12-nation Disarmament Commission to 25 members was approved yesterday. Four Communist nations and three neutrals would be included under the plan.

The Assembly rejected 38-19 a Communist proposal to enlarge the commission to 32 nations, half ruled out any negotiations on the basis of the Assembly's resolution.

A Russian proposal to throw open the arms talks to all 82 U.N. nations drew only the 9 Soviet bloc votes to 46 opposing ballots.

part in any more meetings of the Disarmament Commission unless its 32-member plan was accepted.

Kuznetsov said Russia also to the world—and to the Soviet Union—that it wants disarmament talks to continue. The Soviet Union cannot successfully disregard this massive expression of world opinion.

American sources predicted that after their public stand, the Russians would quietly join the East-West negotiations.

Lodge declared that "the Assembly has emphatically proclaimed to the world—and to the Soviet Union—that it wants disarmament talks to continue. The Soviet Union cannot successfully disregard this massive expression of world opinion."

The Soviets rejected the Western proposals at the talks which ended in London in August.

Nuclear Ship To Be Built, AEC Reveals

WASHINGTON — The United States will launch a nuclear-powered merchant ship in 1959.

A $20,909,744 contract for construction of the vessel was awarded yesterday to the New York Shipbuilding Corp. of Camden, N.J.

A joint announcement by the Maritime Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission said the atomic propulsion system would be supplied by Babcock & Wilcox Co. under a separate contract with AEC for another nine million dollars.

The ship, to be named the NS (for nuclear ship) Savannah, is to be 387 feet long, have a beam of 78 feet, a service speed of 20 knots and a deadweight tonnage of 10,190 tons, the announcement said.

Congress authorized construction of the vessel in July 1956 after President Eisenhower proposed the launching as a demonstration of U.S. determination to develop peaceful applications for atomic energy.

The announcement said the NS Savannah will be an ultramodern ship with facilities for visitors' tours and "will serve as a floating laboratory to study and experiment in the relationship of nuclear power to the requirements of commercial shipping."

'Human Butcher' Displays No Remorse Over Crimes

MADISON, Wis. — Ed Gein, 51-year-old bachelor, appeared to show no remorse, a state criminologist said last night, after more than five hours of questioning in connection with the slaying of a widow and the finding of 10 human skulls in his farm home.

Charles Wilson, head of the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, said he could not detect any remorse, "just a sort of detachment."

Gein, brought to Madison for interrogation in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Bernice Worden of Plainfield, Wis., faced further questioning today.

As Gein's grisly story was being investigated, Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage County said he recognized one of the skulls found on Gein's farm near Plainfield as that of a long-missing woman.

Wanserski told newsmen that he did not believe Gein's story that he had taken the assortment of skulls and grisly human remains from cemeteries.

The sheriff said: "We have found the face and head of Mary Hogan among the objects in Gein's farm home." He said Mrs. Hogan was a 54-year-old Portage County divorcee who disappeared in December 1954 from the rural tavern she operated at Bancroft, about six miles from Gein's farm.

Wanserski said he had taken part in the investigation since it started Saturday night after the discovery of Mrs. Worden's butchered body. Gein has admitted butchering the 58-year-old widow after dragging her bloody corpse from the hardware store she operated in Plainfield. He insisted, however, he did not remember actually killing Mrs. Worden.

Gein was equally emphatic in saying that he didn't know anything about Mrs. Hogan's disappearance.

Gein, a handyman and sometime baby sitter, has maintained that the skulls and other human relics found in his house had been looted from graves "while I was in a daze-like."

Gein's attorney William Belter said he had not verified reports that parts of 15 female bodies had been found in Gein's house. He said an officer at the Gein farm, whom he did not know, had told him there were some "extra" human noses found. Belter added the officer told him "they didn't seem to go with the faces."

Sheriff Wanserski told newsmen that the heads found in the farmhouse had been skinned. The detached portion, he said, made up "faces of a regular size, well preserved, with hair, ears, lips and nose."

The sheriff said he examined 10 such objects, apart from the skulls found in the building, and that "all but two of them are faces. The others are only skulls. The ones with the faces have no eyes, only holes." He confirmed that other items fabricated of human skin were found.

Belter said that he will enter a plea of innocent by reason of insanity when Gein is arraigned in Waushara County Court Monday on a charge of armed robbery. He is being held under $10,000 bond on the charge in connection with the theft of a cash register in Mrs. Worden's store.

Solon Says U. S. Satellite Not Likely For Two Years

EL PASO, Tex. — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) predicted last night it will be two years before an earth satellite "of any significance" is launched by the United States.

The senator made the statement during a Chamber of Commerce reception staged as a prelude to what the Defense Department has said will be "important and secret" briefings and firings at White Sands proving ground today.

A member and alternate chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, Anderson said Russia is "two full years" ahead of the United States in missiles.

"They had the intermediate range missile two years before we did," he said, "and they have the intercontinental missile two years before we will get it."

The senator said that the United States can "put up a little satellite quickly" but it will be 1959 before anything of significance is hoisted.

He blamed America's tardiness in the missile race on what he called untelligent spending and the authority of the Bureau of the Budget over missile development funds.

The situation could be corrected, Anderson said, if Dr. James Killian, new missiles czar, had more authority over allocation of missile funds and if more intelligence ruled in spending of defense money.

Six Children Die In Blaze

DETROIT — Six little children died yesterday in the smoke and flame of a fire that swept the second-story flat occupied by a Negro family of 18.

About 15 minutes before the fire broke out, Mrs. Lucille Sanders, 33, mother of five of the children, went to a neighbor's house to use the phone. Other members of the family were away.

Returning to find her home ablaze, she screamed, "Oh my God! My babies!"

Prevented from entering the house, she collapsed and was treated for shock.

Firemen said an explosion of gas from a coal stove in the small parlor started the flash fire.

Author Hits Changes Made In Her Report

Data On Education In Soviet In Final Version "Deleted"

WASHINGTON (AP)—A suburban Washington woman who wrote the first draft of a U. S. government report on Soviet education charged today that the final version contained "misleading and often completely erroneous information."

Mrs. Eleanor S. Lowman, 29, made the charges in a letter to Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom. She protested against what she called "suppression, inaccuracy, distortion and delay of material of national import."

"Education in the U.S.S.R.," a 223-page report issued Nov. 11 by Folsom's department, was mentioned by President Eisenhower in his report to the nation last week.

Mrs. Lowman in her letter to Folsom said:

"Much valuable information on Soviet education, especially included in the manuscript at the request of the Department of Defense, the Committee for the Development of Scientists and Engineers, the Office of Defense Mobilization, the National Science Foundation and Intelligence agencies in the government—to name but a few—was deleted from the book after the author left and without her knowledge."

A spokesman for the department said there would be no comment on the letter because it had not yet reached Folsom. He said Mrs. Lowman was a temporary employee of the department from Oct. 31, 1955, to July 31, 1956.

Mrs. Lowman said among data cut from her draft was the fact that Soviet education is free from the first grade through post-graduate training. She said also deleted were "most of the passages describing weaknesses of Soviet education, creating errors of fact and interpretation" in the published version.

Police Arrest Four In Drive

Three of four men were given 20-day jail sentences yesterday as city police continued their drive against habitual drunkards and panhandlers. The men were remanded to jail in lieu of $20 fines.

Six men previously were sent to Allegany County Jail for 20-day terms for failure to pay $20 fines on state charges brought against them under a new order handed down by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

A fourth man was found guilty of the same charge yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, but his sentence was suspended to enable him to receive treatment by a doctor for a severe infection.

Two others, also charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, were found not guilty. Magistrate Dick said he dismissed the charges against all six defendants.

Charge Robbery In Criminal Information

A criminal information has been filed in Circuit Court against Stanley M. Davis, 36, Route 1, Watson, W. Va., on a charge of armed robbery.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty said the information was filed yesterday after Davis had petitioned for immediate trial last Friday.

Davis probably will be tried later this week for the robbery of $153 from a local finance company November 1. He has been in Allegany County Jail since his arrest shortly after the holdup.

Farmer Finds City People Not Helpful

BALTIMORE (AP)—Any way you look at it, it's a lot of fertilizer, Oliver Ridgely, a farmer from Mount Airy, had his truck loaded with 8½ tons of it Monday when he hit a ditch in downtown Baltimore. He appealed for help in vain to the Police Department, the Gas and Electric Co. and the Water Department (which dug the hole).

"If this had happened in the country," said the 36-year-old farmer, "someone would have come along and pulled me out by now."

The Baltimore Transit Co. finally came to Ridgely's rescue yesterday and freed the truck. Ridgely showed up later in the day to get it but returned home in disgust when he couldn't move it because of a bent frame, and possibly a cracked drive shaft.

Deer Season At Aberdeen Planned Again

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP)—The Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground, which always has too many deer, is going to stage a little hunting season of its own again this year.

The only licensed hunters who can take part, however, are those who live on the proving ground or work there. Last year, they killed 1,200 deer—about evenly distributed between bucks and does.

In some respects, the Aberdeen "season" resembles duck hunting more than deer hunting.

Most of the post's operational areas are contaminated with high explosive duds. So the hunters take up their positions at designated places and must wait for the deer to come within set firing limits.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

The Tax Situation

FOR SOME YEARS now the leaders in both political parties have been holding out the hope of a fair-sized cut in personal income taxes. A few months ago, the prospect of it seemed brighter than for some time past. The administration was looking ahead to surpluses, as good business—and hence tax revenue—offset the huge peacetime budget. Perhaps the talk of a cut will still ebb and flow. The chance of its coming to pass, however, has been sharply reduced by the altered defense situation we find ourselves in. Many wise heads, scientists among them, have flatly declared that we cannot catch up on the Russians in missiles and satellites by going on a spending spree. In some areas of effort we could hardly spend more than we are doing right now.

YET IT SEEMS almost inevitable that defense spending will rise somewhat in the fiscal year for which the administration is now preparing its budget. There is always the necessity of trying to get more than we are getting for each defense dollar. But when every dollar has been squeezed dry, this may still leave some of our additional requirements unfunded. We cannot neglect our decisive nuclear experiments, and the resulting stockpile of weapons. We may need more jet bombers and fighters. We have to step up missile research and get effective missiles into production. We must continue to maintain a farflung defensive establishment at many outposts around the world.

TO IMAGINE THAT, in the light of Russia's Sputniks and missiles, this will cost us less money next year than it does now is to indulge in wishful fancy. All the signs point the other way. Furthermore, the business outlook for 1958 may not be quite as cheerful as was thought some months back. If the economy tails off a little, tax revenues will not come up to original expectations and the prospect of having a federal surplus will diminish. At worst the situation might call for a decision either to increase taxes or go in for some deficit financing which would boost the public debt. At best, it would seem to call for leaving taxes as they are, at least for another year or so. The administration may not want to say so, but that appears to be the logic of its present position.

The Wrong Images

THE RUSSIAN propaganda success with the Sputniks has revealed that this country has committed grave errors in the images of America which it has sought to establish abroad by propaganda and informational policy. The high standard of living in America has been emphasized as a demonstration of superiority over the Russian system. But the people of the backward countries can never hope to attain a small fraction of what millions of Americans now enjoy. Even in western Europe, America has induced perhaps unnecessary envy by its emphasis on American prosperity. The need which the leaders of backward countries feel keenly is that of industrializing as rapidly as possible. They do not believe that they have the time to industrialize which was given to America. This suggests one of the reasons why the Soviet Union has seemed like a model or example for various Asian leaders and intellectuals. The Russian leaders have been able to develop Russia industrially and to produce earth satellites by sweating and enslaving the Russian people. But in Asia, the enslavement of Russians, and also of Lithuanians, Latvians and Estonians, does not usually arouse many chords of sympathy. To Asians, success is more impressive than freedom. Freedom has been the crucial issue, and American propaganda has often watered down the appeal of freedom by over-emphasizing prosperity and richness. A belief about America has been jolted by Sputnik. Fresh though must be given immediately to the problems of propaganda and informational policy.

RUSSIAN diplomats made 21 automobile tours in the United States within nine months and didn't have a traffic accident. Strangely enough, Soviet propagandists have not used this to claim driving superiority.

We Can Still Enjoy The Rare, Old Things

WASHINGTON—We've got missiles on the brain, until you see them in your sleep, flitting about the heavens of slumber.

Morning, noon and night we get them in our newspapers, on radio, on television. Even the jokes about them are getting stale.

Our President is getting more somber as he warms up to his subject, and we are alerted that Russia, which started all the furore with a couple of earth satellites, may be about to conquer us. But he still is not the thunderer some would like him to be.

Obviously they mumble for a Winston Churchill of the grand rhetoric. Some of our leading journals, however, and some of our leather-jungled politicians can satisfy the most intense yearning for thunders. They are truly magnificent.

Mr. Khrushchev is taunting us in his cocktail hour—or hours—because we haven't got any of the balls buzzing around up above, and that makes lots of us madder as we suffer the first inferiority complex since our rich girls stopped marrying English lords.

IT'S PROBABLY treasonable to say it—but in his latest cocktail hour—or hours—interview in our newspapers he makes sense in suggesting that we have a peaceful contest of tossing the balls up in the air, a stellar baseball game. It really would be the "stellar attraction" of our favorite prize fight, announcer we so enjoy to hear at his work.

If we could just look at all of this as another scientific game for them as are young and like to dabble in the filament, and let those, who want to, go to the moon, and maybe eventually to Mars, distressing as it would be to destroy all the illusions about them that we have cherished.

What, pray, would happen to all the song writers who have made a living on the moon, and what would happen to all the poets and would-be poets?

OR IF, BEING as serious as young scientists can be, we do take it all seriously, as it perhaps should be taken, why can't we concentrate on all the blessings our conquest of space can provide according to the scientists? That, instead of looking at every satellite that somebody else sends up as being a private eye out there in space spying on us and eventually shooting at us.

We really all do look a bit silly, Russia and our country and our politicians and generals and admirals on each side; but it likely will be some time yet before we all stand off and look at ourselves in that way—if ever.

It probably will be a long time before we can sit down calmly and ask and try to answer one simple question:

"What is there for us to fight about?"

That is, why should Russia want to "conquer" us, or to "conquer" Russia? Russia surely knows that if she should get "space" ships that could get the "draw" on us and should ask us to surrender, we would do nothing of the kind. Then we would have the big blow off and noting would be left over which to "rule"—human, animal, mineral, vegetable. She knows us that well—or is terribly blind if she doesn't.

We know we certainly would not start anything ourselves and maybe we could figure out that she wouldn't either for the same reason.

ONCE WE figure that very simple, basic fact out on each side, then maybe we could sit back and enjoy the sport of the new man-made stars.

Could it be that we are really finding an escape in our absorption with rockets and missiles and space ships and the like, an escape away from our troubles down here below? Heaven knows this mystery in the heavens above beats any detective fiction, or science fiction, or adventure, or historical novels, or Civil War stories for "escape."

It's indeed far over the head, figuratively as well as literally, of an old Keats man who can still see, with the poet, more wonder in a Grecian urn made three thousand years ago than in man-made satellites, or real ones like the moon, or Venus or Mars.

That, it is true, is old-fashioned. But let us old-fashioned folks enjoy the old things before you destroy them with the new—even though we are quite aware that we are about to step out into the fourth dimension and into a brand new world of worlds where nothing ever will be the same again. Pray leave us with the past for a little spell.

Harry Has Gay Time With His Old Cronies

WASHINGTON (NEA)—On the eve of the start of a new Senate investigation into the U. S. missile and satellite program, the old Truman investigating committee held a reunion luncheon here. The timing couldn't have been more appropriate.

Harry Truman himself stopped off in Washington a few hours to attend the affair. He was between making a speech in West Virginia and going to see his grandchild in New York.

As ex-Sen. Tom Connally of Texas pointed out, it was the work of the Senate's World War II investigating committee that made Harry Truman vice president, then president.

WHETHER the coming rockets and missile investigation will do the same for Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who will run the new committee, will be something to watch out for.

As Sen. Joe O'Mahoney put it, Truman's success with his committee in 1941-44 lay in the fact that his policy was not to run the war, but to see that it was run efficiently, without waste and without corruption.

Ex-Sen. Homer Ferguson now a judge of the court of military appeals, took it from there. As chairman of the committee, said Ferguson, Truman was always fair. Its reports were always unanimous. The facts that it uncovered were always shown to the agencies it investigated. Often policies were changed without reports being issued.

John Collier, board chairman of Goodrich Rubber, speaking for industry and John L. Lewis of United Mine Workers, speaking for labor, piled up their tributes. Both had been witnesses before the Truman committee in bitter battles over war production.

Now, 16 years later, they look back on the committee's work and take some credit for what they contributed to its record.

THE CHALLENGE before the Johnson committee today is whether it will be able to look back 16 years from now and take credit for its contribution to a successful rockets and missile program. For there is little doubt this phase of the cold war in outer space will last that long or longer.

Aside from this angle on the luncheon, it was entirely a social reunion which Charles Patrick Clark, who was associate counsel of the committee, arranged for about 50 guests. The list included a dozen members of the Truman staff and as many newspapermen who covered the hearings during the war.

Mr. Truman was his customary, post-presidential, relaxed self, enjoying life to the fullest. He makes a lot of speeches now—for a good fee, he says. Also he writes a column and complains in public when editors cut his copy.

IT WAS embarrassing, he said, to have all those nice things said about him, because he couldn't possibly live up to them. He only wished "the Boss"—which is what he calls Mrs. Truman—had been there to hear what was said.

Mr. Truman will be 74 next year. He said he hoped to live to be 95. His mother was 94 and his grandmother 91. He said he considered running for the presidency again when he reached 90. But somebody looked it up and found that it was impossible because 1974 wasn't a presidential election year.

The former president had had a close relation with every one of the guests—ex-Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman, Admiral Jerry Land of Maritime Commission, former chief of protocol Stanley Woodward, former Democratic National Committee Chairman Bill Boyle, from Truman's home town, who got his start as a Truman committee investigator. And others who were big shots around here in war times.

Truman's parting comment was, "I hope they'll have one of these meetings some time when they won't preach my funeral."

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—This man is an economist. If you read his name here, you would know it—but you won't read it here. He is an American, 61 years old, and a voting Republican.

If it weren't such a tired phrase, you could call him an apple pie American. There are no foreign ideologies or allegiances in his spirit or conscience. He paints pictures, with words and graphs. The results are less than joyous. He wishes they were joyous, but the facts, as he sees them, do not permit them to be so. He would, privately, like nothing better than to give out happy news. He can't.

WE HAD LUNCH on Veterans' Day at a small, just off Broadway, restaurant the walls of which are covered with signed portraits of operatic greats and famed composers. It is a restaurant which runs to sauerbraten or knockwurst, with cabbage, and a glass of Berlin weiss beer. We had a ham sandwich and a cup of black coffee, each. A simple lunch, not calculated to deaden the mind. He wanted to talk.

"I DON'T KNOW where we are going," he said, as he slipped the black authoritative coffee. "I wish I did. It is my job to know. Oh, I know in a broad sense. If we continue to spend 60 per cent of the income dollar on armaments, we have to go broke, of course. That's the simplest kind of economics.

"If we continued—and they promise now that we won't—to have three missile programs, divided among as many armed services, we would go broke faster. The duplications and triplications of cost and effort, plus the sub-dividing of what few scientific talents we can avail ourselves of, were and are staggering. It made no sense at all. But that seems on the way to partial straightening up.

"MY CONCERN is with our directions. We are becoming a nation in transition and the more distance we travel toward ultimate transition, the more distressing is the picture. Our directions are these: the corporate father-image, the further abandoning by the Congress of its rights, the tranquilization of a people into a well-fed, well-dressed, robotic life in perfect freedom.

"Let's break it down. The corporate father-image: It hires, sustains, and manages its people. A man is sent to say, Greenville, S. C., to a branch factory and in three years is transferred to some other town. Why? So he cannot get his roots down. It does not want anyone to put roots down. Loyalty shall be to the corporation, not to a way of life and a place to live it. "A recent survey, available to anyone who can read, was made in six co-ed universities. In both sexes, 70 per cent of the senior students did not want wealth, great success, or power. They wanted a good job, to live with the corporation, put in x-number of years, and draw a pension.

"In short, they wanted to be cared for, year by year until the end, without initiative, drive or ambition. They wanted to get located—and stay there. It is appalling that in 22 years the corporate father-image has become that strong and desirable.

"IN THE SAME 22 years, carefully planned advertising penetration, carefully planned mass-mind coloration and carefully planned obsolescence has produced a nation which not only wants but must have gadgets. Gadgets take in the gamut from carpeting to freezers to toasters to washers to automobiles. You must have the newest and most glittering, with the most buttons to push for automation, or you are declass in your community.

"Why? I know a man who had a 1948 car—a good one. It had 29,800 miles on it. His wife was frantic for a new one. His trade-in allowance was virtually zero. His 1948 car still had 40,000 miles of use left in it. "They got the new one. It is of less quality and less honest in construction than his 1948 car. More buttons, gadgets, do-dads, sure, but it is not as good a car. Now his wife can face her friends. Have we become a people spending ourselves to death and junking useful articles to please neighbors? We have.

"SOME ADS ARE candid. They tell you: 'Buy this and feel new importance, a new feeling of belonging.' Belonging to what? Economic serfdom to a machine? "When we spent $2,000,000 to perfect the atom bomb, how many in Congress knew of it during the development period? Very few. This was an abdication of rights. When Mr. Truman had to make the decision to drop the Hiroshima bomb, how many in Congress knew or were consulted? Pitifully few. These are but two of dozens of instances of the gradual abdication by Congress of its rights to know, to advise, to manage.

"Tranquilization of people: Until Russia beat us to space, however crudely and primitively (and it will seem so in five years), we were placid, unvoiced, and unprotesting. We, as a people, let things drift. Now we are frightened, bewildered, and—jolted! Good! We needed to be. The individual needed to feel indignation again."

At Last, Life Can Be Lived

FOGGY BOTTOM, D. C.—This is a big day in the life of a little man; I've got a place to keep my shirts.

Most people come into this world with bureau drawers they can call their own. As they grow up they get a full bureau to themselves. They take this as a matter of course. Chests of drawers, and/or dressers with mirrors so they can see how their neckties knot, they take as a matter of course. Lucky men.

ALMOST exactly a year ago, when we bought our new cooperative apartment (which then was nothing much more than a hole in the ground), my bride gave my bedroom furniture to an indigent relative. This included my bed, my dresser, my chair, my rug, and even the motto I'd taken personally off Shakespeare's tomb at Stratford-on-Avon.

This, which I got in the form of a rubbing off the gravestone, offered blessings to those who left my bones alone and curses to those who disturbed 'em. My Hilda, as I say, was not impressed. I came home one night and there was my bedroom, empty.

She said our relative needed this furniture and I didn't, because I'd be moving into town soon, where I'd have new. She said in the meantime I could haul down an old bed from the attic.

THIS I DID and I slept fine, but getting up in the morning was something else. My shirts were in an old dressing table in the guest room. The only mirror I had was in the bath. Putting on my clothes resulted in a foot race through the house. I had stuff scattered through one room after another, and three times in two weeks I got halfway downtown without my wallet.

Once I arrived at the Senate without a pencil, which is the principal tool of my trade. You may ask why I did not complain. I did complain. I threatened divorce. Mrs. O. was amused. She said I'd soon be in my fancy quarters at the Potomac Plaza and then I'd have a place for shirts.

SO WE DID move about a month ago and I did have a place for my shirts. They were in laundry boxes piled on the floor. One evening I returned after a day at my labors and I didn't even have laundry boxes because my bride had used them to pack some of her stuff in the basement locker. So I got tough. I said I intended to buy a gun. Hilda still laughed.

She said I should appreciate a wife who'd spent as much effort as she had trying to buy me a suitable dresser. She said she'd looked at such items in all the stores and they either were too junky or too costly. She said she'd found a second-hand one, though, which had a marble top. The marble was cracked. Where was it, I demanded. In the store, said Mrs. O., because she wanted to take another look.

THE FOLLOWING evening, with the shirts still on the floor and the underwear scattered on top, I still had no dresser. My bride said somebody long years ago apparently had spilled maple syrup in it and she wanted no such relic in our house.

By yesterday morning, I'd given up hope. On top of the union suits, on top of the shirts were new laundry boxes and getting my clothes on was a worse ordeal than ever. I said nothing and this, apparently, was a wise move.

LAST NIGHT in my bedroom was a mahogany dresser, with eight drawers, a big mirror, and even an electric light. My shirts were inside and so were my socks, and for the first time in a year I didn't get my suspenders twisted putting them on.

I feel like a citizen again, instead of a refugee looking for scraps. This morning as I left, Hilda said there was only one thing: She missed hearing my complaints. This proves that women, especially when they are wives, are not to be understood, and I intend to give up trying.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—One of the favorite jokes of Hollywood producers is that, after a hard day of wrestling with the problems of turning out a movie, they come home to meet this question from one of their own children: "Pop, what do you really do?"

Their children—and other movie fans—know what a star, a writer, or a director does.

But a producer? "A producer is to a movie what an editor is to a magazine," said Arthur Hornblow Jr., a real pro in his field. "He puts it together."

Hornblow, who is 64, balding, dark-eyed and quite vocal, has been an Army lieutenant and a lawyer. But he has also produced some 40 to 50 pictures. They range from "Ruggles of Red Gap" and "Gaslight" to "Oklahoma!" and, most recently, "Witness for the Prosecution."

HE HAS SOME strong opinions about the role of producers and the present plight and future of Hollywood, which he loves and thinks has a real impact for good in the world.

"Too many people have the idea that producers are foreign illiterates—and their objective is vulgarity," he said.

"This is probably our fault. Hollywood can sell pictures, but it can't sell itself. It suffers from the poorest institutional publicity I know of."

"A producer doesn't aim at vulgarity. He tries his damndest to make the best picture he can."

"Actually, there are 142 members of the Screen Producers Guild, and they make 98 per cent of the movies made in this country."

Aren't producers phone-mad, luncheon-addicted, party-crazy?

"I have only two phones on my desk," replied Hornblow. "And one is private. It is for the use of my wife."

"We do go to a lot of lunches, but we use luncheons as we use phones—to conduct business. The same is true of Hollywood parties."

"The reason for a Hollywood party is not to hold an orgy—but to do business."

"The women talk about their children, their cooks, their plans to visit Europe. The men talk business, make contacts, settle business."

"IN 15 MINUTES at one party, when I was preparing to make 'Gaslight,' I got Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer to play the leads. If I had had to deal through their agents, this could have taken six months."

What is wrong with the movie business today?

"If anything kills the film industry it won't be the disinterest of the public," said Hornblow. "It will be the green badge of vanity—the exorbitant money demands of talent for purposes of prestige."

"It will be the demands of stars, directors and writers—their insistence on high salaries which the tax laws won't even allow them to keep."

"Everybody is attached to the tail of the kite of the most successful man in town in his field. This attitude threatens Hollywood with economic disaster."

NEW YORK—Kim Stanley, a magnificent actress with a mane of blonde hair that could qualify her for the role of Godiva in the foreseeable future, is being touted already for the Academy award of 1958.

It makes her nervous. "Sometimes," she says, "I try to turn off my ears."

The performance which the Stanley screamers are raving about is the title role in "The Goddess," a Paddy Chayefsky drama. It's her first movie; it won't be released till next spring, and Miss Stanley—a sensible girl as well as sensitive—has a vague feeling that all the hoopla may hex her.

"WHEN I TOOK the part they said boy, this is an Academy award role if they ever saw one! Then they finish shooting and straight from the press agent's mouth comes word that the Oscar's on the way." She shivers.

It's like you're a pitcher in the ninth inning of a perfect game and some jerk screams, "He's got a no-hitter going!"

Actually, Kim Stanley has won enough awards on Broadway (for leads in "Picnic," "Bus Stop," etc.) and in television, to make the long-range option on an Oscar a feasible idea. She has, in the past five years, turned down dozens of movie offers because "you've got to find something you believe in."

She's a "method" actress, which means that she belongs to the Actor's Studio (fellow students: Brando, Eva Marie Saint, Marilyn Monroe and others, young and earnest), a controversial school of thought that urges players to "live" a part rather than merely "act" it.

BEFORE SHE WAS raised to stardom she worked for eating money. "In TV, the old days, I remember doing scenes that I didn't really believe ever occurred on the face of the earth. In one, I was a woman with a brace on her leg, heart trouble and TB."

"I said to the director, 'come now, don't you think it would be more realistic if we took the brace off the leg? Otherwise, nobody'll understand why I haven't committed suicide before the play started...'"

The director turned down the suggestion. Gotta make 'em cry, he said. Now that Miss Stanley has proved she can make 'em cry with a bow of the head or a lift of the chin, she has only the best material to choose from. "The Goddess," by a current somewhat god of script writers named Chayefsky, is doubtless exactly that.

Peabody Head To Resign At End Of Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Reginald Stewart, director of the Peabody Conservatory of Music since 1941, will resign at the end of the school year next June to devote more time to concert work as conductor and pianist.

John R. Montgomery, president of the Peabody Institute, made the announcement yesterday.

Stewart came here 16 years ago from Toronto, Canada. He resigned as conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra in 1952 after 10 years in the job.

During the past two summers, he conducted at the Stratford Festival in Canada and led the Philharmonia Orchestra of London, as well as making guest appearances in Athens, Greece.

VOLUNTEER SPACE TRAVELERS — Ivey Kemp Parker, 34, says he's willing to trade his cell in the Tennessee Penitentiary for a berth on America's first space satellite. He is serving a nine-to-45 year sentence for felonious assault and will be eligible for parole in 1970. "Why not someone like me instead of a dog like the Russians did," he said in a letter to a Nashville newspaper. (AP Photofax)

Girl Scout Council Admits Frostburg, Barton Troops

The Board of directors of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council recently voted to admit Frostburg and Barton troops to membership in the council.

According to Mrs. George Miller, council president, the action had been taken by mutual agreement some months ago, but formal action, fixing the time of consolidation as December 1, was only recently taken.

A motion was also made and passed unanimously, she said, to include Keyser Girl Scout troops in the council if that community's scout leaders have acted formally on the proposal. Preliminary discussions and invitations have been completed and the board is awaiting a formal acceptance.

Mrs. Miller also reported to the board on the 34th national Girl Scout convention which she attended along with Mrs. Eugene Powell, and Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive.

There were over 8,000 delegates at the convention in Philadelphia last week, she said, representing a membership of over three million Girl Scouts from 48 states, Puerto Rico, Alaska and Samoa. It was the largest convention in the history of the organization. Mrs. Charles U. Culmer of Libertyville, Ill., was elected national president.

The organization adopted a three year theme, "You Can Count On Her," and a goal of another million Girl Scouts by 1960 was established.

There were numerous panel discussions, papers and talks on phases of youth activity and adult leadership and responsibility, of interest to all volunteer and professional Girl Scout workers, the delegates reported.

At the board meeting, it was decided to proceed with plans for the annual Christmas party given by the board for council members, with the annual election meeting in January and the next regular board meeting, December 16.

New Machine Can Do More Than Washing

Device Can Be Used For Dye Job As Well As For Starching

Your washing machine can do more than just washing. It can dye your things and starch them—and perform these functions more simply and efficiently than the traditional way.

Practically anything you would ordinarily wash in hot water can be dyed in your clothes washer. Generally, this is the procedure to follow:

After laundering the article to be dyed, fill the washer with the hottest water available (at least 140 degrees F., even if you have to boil water and add it to the machine).

Add Dye Solution Prepare the dye to suit the weight of the material in accordance with the directions on the dye package. Add the dye solution to the washer, and then put in the article, which should be wet and free of stains before being placed in the dye solution. Time of agitation in the washer depends on whether the machine is automatic, just set the dial for the longest wash period.

It is not recommended that woollens or glass or metal fibers be dyed in a washing machine. Also, the colors black and navy blue are not suited to washer dyeing.

Starching in a washing machine is as uncomplicated as dyeing.

You can do the complete starching job in the washer, or starch pieces by hand as you usually would, then put them in the washer to spin out the excess starch.

To do a complete starching job a concentrated hot-starch solution should be added to the wash. This type of powdered or lump starch is economical in a job that requires a great deal of starch. Ordinarily a light finish requires at least one-half cup of starch, and a medium finish, possibly one-and-a-half cups.

Reset To Rinse

After the pieces to be starched have been washed, you should reset your washer at the "rinse" setting, then add the hot-starch solution and the items to be starched.

If you starch articles by hand and spin them out in the washer, or to get rid of the excess starch, less starch is used. Care should be taken that items undergo the washer spin just enough to remove the excess, no longer. Also be certain that the items starched together require the same kind of finish.

You'll be pleased with the results.

Club To Honor 'Most Optimistic'

The Cumberland Optimist Club will present a plaque to the city's "Most Optimistic" persons at a dinner meeting today at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The selection committee, Hugh Funkhouser, chairman, Walter Weires and Carl Winfield, will announce the recipient of the annual award.

The meeting tonight also is designed as "ladies' night." The Opti-Mrs. will hold a meeting following the men's session.

Recognition Given Trio

KEYSER — Three young men from Keyser are among 35 seniors at West Virginia University who have been chosen as "distinguished military students" in the WVU Army Reserve Officers Training Corps program. The announcement was made by Col. James S. Moncrief Jr., professor of military science and tactics.

Among those designated to the coveted status are Richard A. Ball, Robert L. Bishop and Jack R. Wilson, all of Keyser. Two other area youths were also included: Edward O. Buckbee, Romney and Daniel L. Sharpless, Blaine. All are former Potomac State College students.

Based on interviews, academic and military grades, demonstrated leadership potential, and an active interest in cadet activities, selections are made from among those students scheduled for lieutenant commissions the following year.

Distinguished military students who maintain this status throughout their senior year qualify as "distinguished military graduates." It is from this select group, Moncrief explained, that the U. S. Department of Army tenders the few Regular Army commissions offered to college and university graduates each year.

Contrasts Noted Over German Area

BONN, Germany (AP) — Free enterprise is the battle cry of Konrad Adenauer's West German government. And one-third of the federal budget is set aside for social welfare.

Evidences of spectacular prosperity can be seen. The average industrial worker earns only $90 a month.

Four million new residences have been built since the end of World War II. Two million families remain homeless.

These are but a few of the striking anomalies in a country which in a dozen years has risen from unconditional surrender to the foremost economic position on the European Continent.

All the anomalies can be summed up in one German word "Wirtschaftswunder," which means "the economic miracle." There are certain signs that an inflationary spiral may be setting in, a spiral that would throw the miracle out of kilter and cause profound social problems.

The coal producers — over the vigorous protests of Adenauer and his lieutenants — have raised prices. The metal workers are demanding a 10 per cent wage increase.

It may be that the uneasy truce between capital and labor is about to be broken.

Proposal Made For Maryland To Buy Canal Land

BALTIMORE—(AP)—A Legislative Council committee has approved "in principle" a proposal that Maryland reacquire land along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal now owned by the federal government.

Del. Bloom (D-Washington) made the proposal to the Potomac River Committee last night as an alternative to a plan now before Congress to use the land for development of a national park. He called the government plan "unnecessary, extravagant and highly detrimental to the interests of the state."

Former Area Man And Wife Die In Crash

Lt. Col. John Lewis And Wife Killed In Louisiana Mishap

An Air Force officer, formerly of Frostburg, and his wife were killed yesterday in Shreveport, La., when a passenger train struck their car at a grade crossing.

The couple was identified as Lt. Col. and Mrs. John C. Lewis. Lt. Col. Lewis was born in Mt. Savage, but moved with his family to Frostburg at an early age. His wife was Sadie Cappel of Alexandria, La.

Lewis was pilot of a B47 which set a coast-to-coast record of 3 hours and 19 minutes in a flight from March Air Force Base, Calif. to Savannah, Ga. in February 1955.

The couple was the only occupants of the car which was struck by an Illinois Central passenger train in Bossier City across the Red River from Shreveport.

The impact gutted the car and threw the engine 50 yards away. Lewis' body was found in shallow water at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment, 60 yards down the track.

The body of Mrs. Lewis was found 40 yards from the point of impact.

Officers said the driver of the car apparently saw the train only seconds before the collision. Skid marks on the street from the car tires measured 25 feet.

The couple had two children, John Charles age 6 and Leslie Kay, 10, both natives of Louisiana.

Beall Graduate Lewis is also survived by a brother, Allen E. Lewis, Frostburg; his father, Allen Lewis, formerly of Frostburg and now residing in Barboursville, Ohio, and two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Holt of Mt. Savage and Mrs. Seelena Brown, Cresapton.

He attended public schools in both Mt. Savage and Frostburg and graduated at Beall High School. He enlisted in the Air Force after graduation and had completed 18 years of service. Cpl. Harry W. Rook and Troop during which time he had pursued his college training and education at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Col. Lewis visited here frequently and last summer, he and his family spent two weeks vacationing at Deep Creek Lake. When in this area, and prior to his enlistment he had made his home with his sister, Mrs. Brown at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Brown said last night that funeral arrangements are incomplete but services and interment will probably be in Louisiana, since his wife and children are natives there, and he had resided there for a number of years.

The General Services Administration today studied seven bids for improvements and repairs to the Cumberland Post Office, the bids ranging from $54,250 to $82,865.

The bids, which were opened yesterday, will be analyzed before a contract is awarded, a GSA spokesman said. The bids were:

Kennedy Electric of Washington $34,250; Jack Picout of New York, $54,700; C. W. Houston of Rockville, $62,503.21; George Construction Company of Cumberland, $68,975; H. L. Grohney of Decatur, Ill., $71,636; Cordell Building Services of Silver Spring, $77,607, and Louis J. Giannelli Company of South Boston, Mass., $82,865.

The work includes fluorescent lighting for the postal work room, interior painting and miscellaneous repairs.

The repair work will include installation of a conveyor system from the work room to the second floor where mail is now sorted for delivery by carriers. The second floor space was formerly occupied by a Federal Court.

The change was made last year to help combat the cramped conditions that clerks had to work in while sorting Christmas mail. The plan worked out so well that it was kept in operation after mail resumed its normal proportions.

The only drawback, postal officials said, was that mail had to be carried by cart and elevator from the first floor to the second floor for sorting before delivery.

The conveyor will eliminate that drawback, it was pointed out.

ABL Project Better Than Requirement

Local Device Not To Be Used In Test Of Vanguard

The third stage of Project Vanguard, this country's answer to the Russian satellites, is expected to be launched next month, but the unit that will be tested is not the one which has been developed at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory.

Project Vanguard is being completed under a contract that has the Martin Company of Baltimore as the prime contractor, with sub-contracts on various stages of the Navy-directed program being awarded by the Navy Bureau of Ordnance.

The ABL plant at Pinto and the Grand Central Rocket Company of Redlands, Calif., were singled out for the development of the satellite's vital third stage—that will send the rocket on its orbit around the earth.

Unit Assembled

Preliminary work at the Pinto plant began following the awarding of the contract in April of last year, while the construction of the third stage and its propellant got underway last fall.

A complete unit has been assembled, which spokesmen claim is usable and that exceeds the requirements specified in the contract. Work on the unit and its solid propellant (fuel) is continuing, and its actual flight testing is expected in the near future.

The Naval Research Laboratories has announced that the California firm's rocket has been flown, and that its unit will be used in the next launching of the Vanguard, expected sometime next month.

No Final Decision NRL officials stressed that no final decision has been made on which firm will be awarded the final contract for the third stage, since the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory unit has not been tested.

The Martin Company announced that it is establishing a new division in a "crash" program for the launching of the Vanguard. The new division, company officials said, was not indicative of dissatisfaction with the progress so far in its satellite-missiles work.

The announcement said the new organization will embrace other Martin activities at Patrick Air Force Base in Florida, the American missile test center. The company's program there includes test work on the Air Force Matador tactical missile and the Air Force's Titan, intercontinental ballistic missile.

Camper Club Helps To 'Color' Thanksgiving Day Activities

Some of the color that is associated with the city's traditional Thanksgiving Day football game can be directly attributed to the Camper Club, an organization formed of graduates and supporters of Allegheny High School.

S. Lua Sykes, president of the Camper Club, said the new uniforms being worn by the Allegheny High School cheerleaders and majorettes were purchased by the organizations as part of the budget allotted for the AHS band and affiliated units.

The complete budget has not been worked out, Sykes said, in pointing out that the band and its units account for the major portion.

Assist On Trips The 1956-57 Camper Club expenditures, he continued, totaled nearly $3,500, of which more than $1,400 was spent for the uniforms for the majorettes and cheerleaders, as well as payments on the uniforms for the band and color guard. Part of the expenses also included football trips taken by the band, Sykes said.

Approximately $1,300 was spent on athletic activities sponsored by the Camper Club. This included the purchasing of football movies, meals for the players, the annual trip to College Park to see a University of Maryland football game, the club's annual All-Sport dinner, uniforms for the AHS baseball team and other projects.

The club, Sykes continued, also assists other Allegheny High School activities such as sponsoring the school's All-State Orchestra and Chorus entries, helps send the staff of the school's newspaper, the Alcehi Mirror, to New York, sponsors graduation awards and a dance for the senior class.

Other Officers Officers of the club, besides Sykes, are John Yoder, vice president; Nancy Taylor, secretary; and Carl Belt, treasurer. Committees include Dr. Harold Malin, chairman, Donald McIntyre and Harry Grimes, sports; Sykes, chairman, Mrs. Charles H. Long and Mrs. Robert Kasecamp, band, and Mrs. John Zink, chairman, Mrs. Paul Marriott, James Bangard and Belt, expenditures.

Man Accused In Death Of Young Bride

Brother Charged Of Being Accessory; Held Without Bond

A 36-year-old Rockwood, Pa., man has been charged with arson and murder in connection with the death Sunday night of his bride of two months.

Pennsylvania State Police in Somerset said this morning the man, Melvin LeRoy Boden, is being held without bond in the Somerset County Jail.

Also being held without bond is his brother, Harry Boden, 48, also of Rockwood, who has been charged with being an accessory after the fact in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary (Growth) Boden, 36.

Mrs. Boden died in Somerset Community Hospital of third degree burns and shock about two hours after the fire was discovered in a sleeping room on the first floor of the Boden home in Rockwood.

Wearing Robe Somerset County Coroner Robert H. Halverson said Mrs. Boden's body was scorched from the neck to the lower part of her torso. She was wearing only a robe when the blaze started.

Shortly after Mrs. Boden's death, the Pennsylvania State Police and Somerset authorities apprehended her husband and brother-in-law and lodged them in the Somerset Jail for investigation.

Last night they were taken before a justice of the peace and ordered held without bond for action of the next term of Somerset County Circuit Court.

A post-mortem Sunday night in Meyersdale Community Hospital revealed that the victim also sustained contusions and lacerations of the right eye.

Took Out Insurance Sgt. Arthur Woods, Greensburg, Pa., fire marshal for the Pennsylvania State Police, Trooper Thomas H. Sterner of Somerset and Somerset authorities then began their investigation which revealed the discovery of some "eyebrow raising" evidence, including two insurance policies taken out on Mrs. Boden shortly after her marriage in August.

Police said the fire actually was very minor to the building, estimating only $25 damage. They noted the only objects ablaze was Mrs. Boden's robe and three floor boards.

The victim was co-owner with her husband of the Growth Lumber Company in Rockwood.

Rockwood Native A native of Rockwood, she was born January 16, 1921 a daughter of the late Harry B. and Mary (Sembover) Growth.

She is also survived by two sons, Robert and Joseph Burawski, both of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Services were conducted yesterday at the Rockwood IOOF Cemetery.

Her husband was taken to the funeral under guard by Sheriff Norman Walker of Somerset County.

Stores Robbed At Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN (P)—Two downtown stores were robbed last night by roof top burglars.

As far as police could learn quickly, the burglars got only sales tax pennies in McCrory's five-and-dime store after failing to break open the safe.

They succeeded in opening the safe two doors away at the Beneficial Finance Co. and took less than $50, police said.

Entrances to both places were through the roof and police believe they were made by the same robbers of $90 from Leed's Army & Navy Store last Friday.

All Starters Graduate In '57; Opener With Hubs

As if things aren't confusing enough with rock 'n' roll and the havoc created by advertising folks with the English language, football coaches are getting into the act.

If you thought you had it made when learning football jargon or terminology, say, 10 years ago or if you are older, 20 years ago, you may well be mystified by the new talk that has cropped up more recently.

Even "Pete" Stevens, Temple University coach, is confused by some of it and confessed recently:

"I didn't know what they were talking about when I returned to coaching after the war."

The Temple boss, along with assistant coaches Paul Rihlt and Tim Tenerario of Penn. and Charley Gauer of the NFL Philadelphia Eagles, compiled the following glossary of some of the more popular terms currently in use among football's guiding geniuses.

Just to make it interesting, the terms often mean different things to different coaches. Here we go:

Red dogging—A defensive maneuver on which certain linemen try a concentrated rush into the enemy backfield. A blitz is the same thing.

Post and power—Turning a defensive lineman rather than driving him back.

Trailer—An end trailing a wingback, or vice versa, on a pass play.

Gaming—Shifting by several defenders, usually linemen and linebackers working together. Also called "playing games" and stunting.

Keying—Defensive maneuvers determined by the moves of a certain key player.

Cream or polish—Extra oomph on a tackle with the hope of causing a fumble.

Submarine—Diving maneuver by defensive linemen in effort to cause a pileup.

Flare—A quarter-circle swing, usually by a halfback on a pass play. Other pass receiver patterns are the rainbow, the fan and the banana.

Cherry picker—What the old timers will recall as the statue of liberty play.

Salty Rand—Naturally, a naked reverse.

Everything clear now?

Schoolboy Records

High school football records due to the thousands of schoolboy teams in the country, are only sporadically kept, confusing any attempt to pick all-time champions. A little research by someone with time on his hands has advanced some of the thought-to-be scholastic records with comparing district marks following:

GAMES WITHOUT DEFEAT—78, the Bedford County (Tenn.) Training School, 1942-50 (current 26, Keyser High 1953-54).

LONGEST WIN STREAK—55, the Massena (N. Y.) High School—streak ended September 28, 1957 (current 26, Keyser High 1955-56).

RECORD SCORE—Haven (Kan.) High, 256, Sylvan (Kan.) High 0 (LaSalle 107, Tunnelton (W. Va.) 0, 1929).

SEASON'S TOP SCORER—Kenneth Hall, Sugarland (Texas) High—351 points in 1953 (Earl "Lefty" Bruce, Allegany—138 in 1948).

TOP CURRENT COACH RECORD—Joe Coviello, Memorial (West New York, N. J.) High, going into 1957—won 98, lost 4, tied 1 (Bill Hahn, Fort Hill, current—won 98, lost 11, tied 6).

End Zone, Please

Here's one that was just too good to allow to go without mentioning.

Recently a married man of twenty-five years called the ticket office for two good seats at the Pitt-Penn State game this Saturday in Pittsburgh.

He said: "Twenty-five years ago, I took my wife to the Pitt-Penn State game. That was our first date together. I would like to buy two end zone seats."

Ticket manager Kenny George of the Panthers said, "I have two high together in the end zone."

The man replied, "That is not what I want."

"What is wrong?" the puzzled Kenny replied.

"I want two end zone seats. One for her in the one end zone and one for me in the other."

OUTSIDE HELP
CLEVELAND, O. — (NEA) — Paul Brown, who made his way to the top with the Cleveland Browns by using a nucleus of Ohio State talent, now has only three ex-Buckeyes on the squad.

When Holy Cross beat Syracuse 20-19 it marked the first football victory for the Crusaders over the Orange since their 33-7 win in 1948.

RIGHT DIRECTION—Winding up a rugged season, Jack Morris, Oregon fullback, takes a breather. The sign, furnished by a cheer leader, makes it clear where the Webfoots are going — to the Rose Bowl.

Princeton Coach Favors Switching To Two-Platoon

PRINCETON, N. J. — Princeton's new football coach said today that he would support any plan that called for the Ivy League to break away from other teams and play two-platoon football within its own conference.

Dick Coleman, 42-year-old successor to Charlie Caldwell, who died two weeks ago, said he is completely in favor of two-platoon football.

"Charlie was working on something like the Ivies playing two-platoon football among ourselves and I, for one, would support it," he said.

Caldwell was on record as being against the one-platoon game as now being played, Coleman, who was his assistant, feels the same way.

"I want two-platoon football back," he said. "It would help any institution where the boys have to carry the academic load that they do here. When we had over Wake Forest, SMU 7 over two-platoon football, the college game was at its best."

"It made practice sessions the usual 10 games against WMI much easier and certainly reduced the number of serious injuries. Further, we'd run as many as 165 plays a game. Now we run about 140."

Top Spartans Heavy Choice In Final Game

By DICK DUNKEL

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (Special) — Big Ten football power, which has monopolized the top drawer of the Power Index this year, will get its last chance at higher ratings this Saturday.

Michigan State, now the national statistical leader with a rating of 111.8, will close out its season against visiting Kansas State (79.9). The rating difference is about 32 points, and the Spartans will have to win by that amount if they are to keep their present figure. Not too large a chore for the steamroller which flattened Minnesota by 29 last week.

Ohio State and Iowa, present holders of second and third positions, also want to advance but will be faced with heavy odds. Both must take to the road to Holiday Festival basketball tournament set for Madison Square Garden, Dec. 26, 28 and 30.

The Buckeyes, who will journey to Ann Arbor to play their ancient rival, Michigan, carry a rating par of 9 points over the Wolverines. That margin may be hard to achieve.

And it won't be any easier for Iowa to make a similar 9-point par over the conquerors of Oklahoma, Notre Dame, at South Bend.

Among other national leaders, Texas A & M, Mississippi, and Navy will have open dates, but the following four will be playing against rating pars as follows:

No. 4 Oklahoma, 35 over Nebraska.

No. 5 Auburn, 29 over Florida State.

No. 7 Purdue, 31 over Tulane.

No. 9 Wisconsin, 9 over Minnesota.

The higher rating team has won 77.3 per cent of the 1,689 games, not counting ties, covered by the Power Index to date. Ratings result from the combination of average scoring margin with average adjusted rating of opposition.

Pars for other big Saturday games:

EAST—Penn State 1 over Pitt.

Dartmouth 6 over Princeton, Yale 12 over Harvard, Lehigh 17 over Lafayette.

MIDWEST — Illinois 19 over Northwestern, Colorado 19 over Iowa State, Missouri 8 over Kansas, Okla. State 9 over Hardin.

SOUTH — Tennessee 12 over Kentucky, Rice 6 over TCU, Duke 7 over North Carolina, Clemson 27 over Wake Forest, SMU 7 over Baylor, Florida 4 over Ga. Tech.

Arkansas 22 over Texas Tech, N. C. State 9 over S. Carolina, Maryland 11 over Virginia, Vanderbilt 23 over Citadel.

FAR WEST — Oregon State 3 over Oregon, UCLA 10 over So. Calif., Stanford 7 over California.

Martin Goes To Tigers In Biggest Major League Trade

DETROIT—(INS)—The Detroit Tigers and Kansas City Athletics today completed a 13-player trade, one of the biggest swaps in the history of the major leagues.

The Tigers sent outfielders Billy Tuttle and Jim Small, pitchers John Tsitouris and Duke Maas, catcher Frank House, and 29-year-old infielder who played two minor league players, to be five seasons with the New York Yankees before he was traded to the A's last June after the "Copa Incident."

Get Gus Zernial. In return, they got infielder Billy Martin, catcher Tim Thompson, pitchers Mickey McDermott and Tom Morgan, and outfielders Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas. Six American League teams reportedly have been bidding for the services of Martin, the aggressive right fielder.

The seasoned Zernial, with 225 home runs in his lifetime, including 27 last year, is expected to play left field with Charley Maxwell shifting to another garden or possibly first base.

Morgan For Relief. Morgan, 27, another former Eastern College Athletic Conference sponsored event are Con-necticut, Pittsburgh, Temple, the 39-year-old Miss Berg still is Manhattan and New York Uni-versity.

NEW YORK — (AP) — California and Seattle from the West Coast Yankee, probably will be used as will play in the sixth annual Holiday Festival basketball tournament set for Madison Square Garden, Dec. 26, 28 and 30.

Other teams to play in the Eastern College Athletic Conference sponsored event are Con-necticut, Pittsburgh, Temple, the 39-year-old Miss Berg still is Manhattan and New York Uni-versity.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Patty Berg won her first major golf championship in 1927. Now, 20 years later, the 39-year-old Miss Berg still is with the leading women's professional with $16,542 won.

Thompson, 34, hit only 205 last season but caught the eye of Detroit brass when he hit three home runs in three straight games at Briggs Stadium.

Tuttle and House were major disappointments for the Tigers. House, signed for $82,000 and two cars in 1948, never hit more than 260 for the Bengals.

Tuttle joined Detroit in 1954 and hit a promising .266 and .279 the next two seasons before slipping to .251 this year.

Small, Maas "Prizes" Kansas City probably considers Small, 26, and Maas, 26, the "prizes" of the swap. Small has 260 for the Bengals.

State Anxious To Conclude With Victory

By The Associated Press
North Carolina State — "Very anxious to win," in the words of Coach Earle Edwards — Winds up its first successful football season since 1946 Saturday against South Carolina.
State's losses have outnumbered the wins every year since its 8-2 record of 1946. But the Wolfpack, 6-1-2 for the season and 4-0-1 in Atlantic Coast Conference competition, is sure to close out this season on a note of victory and reigns a favorite for the final game.

'Good Football Team'
But Edwards isn't taking the game lightly. "We know they have a good football team, well equipped with talented players," he said.

South Carolina Coach Warren Giese also showed a healthy respect for his opponent, describing State as "the most explosive ball team we'll play all year."

Preparations continued yesterday for three other ACC games this weekend:

North Carolina at Duke. North Carolina Coach Jim Tatum, working in a closed stadium, compared the teams this way: "In physique we are equal. We are unequal in agility, really behind them in experience and they've got us in speed." Duke Coach Bill Murray reported that tackle Tom Topping was still in a hospital, and Billy Thompson returned to practice and fullback Hal McElhenny appeared to be approaching top form.

Mont 'Worried'
Wake Forest at Clemson. Wake Forest, unless this season, held a lengthy scrimmage and a long session on offensive fundamentals. Clemson Coach Frank Howard staged a 45-minute offensive scrimmage, a dummy defensive drill and worked on pass offense and pass defense.

Virginia at Maryland. Maryland Coach Tommy Mont said he's "terribly worried" about Virginia. Virginia Coach Ben Martin checked the Cavaliers' defenses in the first outdoor workout of the week.

Terps Hampered By Heavy Rains

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Heavy rains earlier this week hampered Maryland's preparations today for its football season finale Saturday against underdog Virginia.

Coach Tommy Mont sent his Maryland squad through contact drills on an intramural field yesterday because rains had left the regular practice gridiron too muddy. Because the intramural field is unlighted, this restricted the team to less than 75 minutes outdoors before dark.

Mont worked on familiarizing his boys with the varied formations from which Virginia quarterbacks Reece Whitley and Nelson Yarbrough operate a wide-open passing game or set up their bruising running attack around fullback Jim Bakhtiar.

Scout Johnny Idzik reported yesterday Bakhtiar would be a sure bet All-America if he had played with a team boasting a better record than Virginia's 2-5-1. Maryland is a 12-point early favorite to win the Byrd Stadium contest for an even split in its 10-game schedule.

Rice Win Helps Sugar Bowlers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl is quite happy with the sudden turn of football fortunes that pointed Rice toward the Cotton Bowl.

Victories over Texas Christian and Baylor would assure Rice a tie for the Southwest Conference title and a bid to the Cotton Bowl, leaving the once-beaten Texas Aggies free to accept a bid to the Sugar Bowl.

The Sugar Bowl, unofficially wedded to the Southeastern Conference, had faced the problem of finding an opponent for its SEC representative.

A source close to the Sugar Bowl said, "Rice may have solved our problem by beating Texas A&M 7-6 Saturday. If each wins the rest of its games they will tie for the Southwest Conference championship. Rice would automatically go to the Cotton Bowl because it beat the team it shared the championship with."

The SEC representative probably will come from the Mississippi-Mississippi State winner Nov. 30. Tennessee, victor over State and loser to Mississippi last week, also is in the running.

PGA Changed To Medal Play

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Assn. championship next year will be a four-day, 72-hole medal play tournament rather than the man-to-man type elimination play that was started in 1916.

This was unanimously voted last night by delegates attending the 31st annual PGA convention.

The delegates decided the 1958 PGA championship will be played at Llanharan Country Club in Philadelphia between July 14 and 20 for a probable purse of $40,000.

The match-play competition has proven a losing financial proposition over the years.

SPECIAL CASES
NEW YORK (NEA) — Whirlaway and Chaldean are the only two horses ever voted Horse-of-the-Year twice.

Duke Battles Tar Heels In ACC Feature

By The Associated Press

Duke University can charge into the Orange Bowl stadium New Year's Day as the kingly of Atlantic Coast Conference football, or it can back in as a second place team which received the bid on an NCAA technicality.

The Blue Devils virtually have clinched the bowl bid, and now are concerned only with the matter of pride as they prepare for Saturday's tussle with arch rival North Carolina.

State Ineligible

Here's the way it shapes up as the season stretches into the late November stages: A Duke victory Saturday clinches the ACC championship outright; a Duke loss to North Carolina and a victory by North Carolina State over South Carolina would give State the championship.

State, however, can't even think of a bowl-happy new year for four more years. The Wolfpack, on NCAA probation as a result of basketball recruiting irregularities, is ineligible for post season games. Duke, with second place assured, would walk back into the game against Oklahoma, the big Eight champion, by losing Saturday.

Finals For Duke, State
The Duke-North Carolina contests close out the 1957 season for Duke and State. Other games on Saturday's card list desperate Wake Forest, loser of its last 10 contests, against frustrated Clemson; and Virginia at Maryland.

Duke achieved the threshold of the conference championship by out-tucking Clemson Saturday at Durham. Duke won 7-6, but Coach Frank Howard's Tigers penetrated on five separate futile occasions to Duke's 28, 17, 5, 1 and 7. Three of the thrusts ended because of fumbles.

When the Tigers finally did tally, sophomore quarterback Harvey White's conversion attempt was wide.

Other Saturday activity saw North Carolina State rebound from its Nov. 9 upset at the hands of William & Mary to shut out another Southern Conference foe, Virginia Tech 12-0.

South Carolina finally grabbed an ACC triumph, topping Virginia 13-0 at Charlottesville.

West Virginia handed Wake Forest its eighth straight loss this season and 10th in a row over a two-year stretch. The score was 27-14. Maryland opened the weekend with a 16-6 victory over Miami Friday night at Miami. North Carolina had an open date.

'Chuck' Howley Picked Top Amateur Athlete

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Chuck Howley, of West Virginia University, has been chosen the state's "Amateur Athlete of the Year."

Howley, who played both left and right guard for WVU this season before a broken jaw ended his varsity career, was honored at the thirteenth annual victory awards dinner December 9 in his home town of Wheeling.

Runnerup in the voting, participated in by 34 members of the State Sports Writers Association, was Rod Hundley, WVU All-America basketball player who on the award last year.

Something Old And New Helps Keep Colts In Pace

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — What are the Baltimore Colts made of to be tied for the lead in the Western Conference of the National Football League?

Something old, something new and something nobody else wanted.

With only four games to go, the Colts meet San Francisco Sunday in a showdown between two of the division leaders. The other is Detroit.

Top Late-Season Showing

It's the best late season situation of Baltimore in five years since returning to the National Football League. And it's been accomplished without one real star which leads to the inevitable conclusion it has been accomplished through the plugging of Coach Weeb Ewbank.

The little coach, a back talker to critics, said it would take him five years to give Baltimore a contender. This is his fourth and before the season started he conceded he was a "little ahead" of schedule, although not enough to get excited.

The Colt offense is the most productive scoring machine in the league. Yet only one change has been made in the line — Jim Parker, a rookie from Ohio State at left tackle.

Steelers Junk Units

The leading passer in the league with 18 touchdown passes, John Unitas, was picked from the Pittsburgh sandlots for an 80-cent telephone call after being junked by the Steelers.

Buzz Netter, the offensive center, was cut by the Washington Redskins and was a sub for two years with the Colts before Dick Szymanski was called to military service.

Ray Berry and Jim Mutscheller, the Colt offensive ends, aren't even mentioned among the great pass catchers of the league unless you look at the statistics.

Berry, wearing a special brace for a bad back and long cleats on one shoe for a short leg, is fifth best in the league with 30 catches for 412 yards and five touchdowns while Mutscheller has caught eight over the goal.

Old Story On Line

The defensive line is an old story with veterans such as Gino Marchetti, Art Donovan, Daddy Lipscomb and Don Joyce. Lipscomb is the youngest veteran with six years and he was picked up on waivers from Los Angeles. Joyce came on a trade with the Chicago Cardinals.

The new Colts shining on defense are Milt Davis at defensive halfback and Don Shinnick backing up the line. Davis is second best pass interceptor in the league with seven.

Davis was signed as a free agent after being let go by Detroit for whom he played two games last season.

SECONDS AWAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (NEA) — Yale is only seconds away from a perfect football season. The Elis lost to Brown with less than a minute to play and Dartmouth got a draw in the final 10 seconds.

Frank Foreman, Oldest Of Orioles, Dies At Age 94

BALTIMORE (AP) — The oldest Baltimore Oriole baseball player, Frank Foreman, died yesterday at the age of 94 still proud of his strong pitching arm.

Foreman started pitching in 1884 and threw the ball for 20 years.

At his peak in 1893, he won 25 games. "A faint heart is one of the big causes of sore arms," he used to say in discussing modern pitchers. "In the old days we were ready to pitch every day. I never had a sore arm."

Foreman, a change of pace artist with an underhand slow curve that he described as "no speed at all and looked like it was hung on the end of a string," joined the Orioles in 1884 when they were in the American Assn.

After five years, he was sold to Chicago and subsequently played in Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Toledo and Kansas City. He came back home to the Orioles in 1901 to pitch for them in the American League with John McGraw as manager.

"He hadn't been able to get out of bed in the past 18 months," reported his daughter today. "But his arm and shoulder were still as strong as ever and he could still rear back and go into a windup."

Capitols, Columbians And Diplomats Score

Utah 'Hurler' Gains Ground Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Lee Grosscup, Utah's passing wizard, has moved into the thick of the fight for the individual offense championship among major college football players.

In 20th place two weeks ago, Grosscup has moved into the No. 3 spot behind Tommy Greene of Holy Cross and Bob Newman of Washington State. NCAA Service Bureau statistics revealed today.

Greene Still Leading
Green has 1,323 running-passing yardage followed by Newman with 1,254 and Grosscup 1,231. The Utah star put together a two-game total of 556 yards against Army and the Air Force Academy in the last two weeks. Each has one game left to play.

Leon Burton of Arizona State has taken over the rushing lead from Bob Stransky of Colorado, who fell to third behind Army's Bob Anderson. But there's less than a single first down separating them. Burton has netted 967 yards on the ground, Anderson 965 and Stransky 950.

Burton Way In Front
Burton, whose remarkable 10.1-yard average for each of his 96 tries is in a class by itself, has two more games remaining. Anderson and Stransky each have one.

Pass — completion honors are shared by Grosscup, Newman and Drake's Rober LaBrasca.

Grosscup has a completion average of .694 — by far the high mark. His completed aeriels also have covered the most distance, 1,327 yards. Newman leads in total completions with 90 with Grosscup close behind with 85 and Bob Winters of Utah State third with 84.

Indians, A's Fail To Complete Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two trades involving the Cleveland Indians, involving the Cleveland Indians, Vic Wertz, Al Smith and Rocky Colavito for Kansas City infielders Billy Martin and Vic Power failed to come off last night, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported.

Frank Lane, Indians' general manager, was quoted that a Smith for Martin trade was rejected by Arnold Johnson, president of the Kansas City Athletics. Smith is a speedy outfielder who spent part of last season at third base for Cleveland.

Lane said Johnson then asked for Wertz, a first baseman who batted .282 last season, and Colavito, a strong-armed outfielder, in exchange for Martin and Power. Lane said he was reluctant to part with Colavito and would make no deal involving Power. Wertz would only be traded for a hard-hitting infielder, he added.

Brown, O'Connell Grab First In Loop's Rushing, Passing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cleveland Browns' one-two punchers — runner Jimmy Brown and passer Tommy O'Connell — are tops in their specialties, the latest National Football League statistics disclosed today.

Brown, workhorse of the Cleveland backfield, replaced Los Angeles' Tom Wilson as the pro's No. 1 ground gainer. The former Syracuse All-America gained 68 yards in the 30-39 tie with Washington Sunday and took over the lead with a total 532 yards on 130 attempts for a 4.1 average.

Wilson, who had led the runners since the start of the season, managed only 24 yards against Green Bay last week and fell to second place with 525 yards on 106 carries and a 5-yard average. O'Connell remained on top in the passing department for the second straight week. The former Illinois ace now has completed 58 of 94 for 1,027 yards, six touchdowns passes and a 10.9 average. Eddie LeBaron, the tiny Washington quarterback, is runnerup with a record of 64 for 104, 1,048 yards, 8 TDs, and an average of 10 yards per pass. Baltimore's John Unitas holds third place with 101 of 180, 1,539 yards, 18 TDs and an 8.5 average.

Other leaders:
Pass receiving — Billy Wilson, defending champion of San Francisco, grabbed 8 passes last week to move in front with 32 for 460 yards. Pittsburgh's Jack McElhenny, with one less game than Wilson, is runnerup with 31 for 397 yards.

Scoring — Cleveland's Lou Groza, veteran field goal and conversion specialist, managed 12 points last Sunday, while George Blanda of the Bears scored 2, thus deadlocking the race, with 50 points each.

Punting — Don Chandler of the New York Giants upped his average to 46.1 on 39 bouts, to maintain his lead.

Punt returns — Bert Zagers of Washington with an average of 22.6 on 8 returns, leads teammate Joe Scudero who has averaged 9.3 on 9 efforts.

Kickoff returns — Don McIlhenny, Green Bay, retained first place with a 31 yard average on 8 returns.

Pass interceptions — Jack Butler of Pittsburgh, despite the Steelers' idleness last week, still tops this category with 8 interceptions. Milt Davis of Baltimore and Jack Christiansen of Detroit each have 7.

Gavilan Hopes To 'Comeback' Against Byars

CHICAGO (AP) — Kid Gavilan, former welterweight champion, meets Walt Byars tonight in a 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium. Gavilan, 31-years old and a veteran of 138 matches, hopes to use Byars as a stepping stone toward regaining the title he once cherished.

The Kid will be making his first stadium appearance since dropping a decision to Bobo Olson in a middleweight title fight in 1954. The bout tonight will be nationally televised (ABC — 10 p.m. EST).

Gavilan is out to avenge what he calls a "home town decision" which he lost to Byars in Boston last December. The Kid has lost four of five bouts this year and his nine-year record is now 105-5.

Byars, a 25-year-old left hooker, has a 16-5-1 record but has slipped of late. He defeated Sugar Hart last March but has since lost to Tony DeMarco, Virgil Akins and Isaac Logart.

Jim Bakhtiar Seen Certain Rushing King

GREENSBORO, N. C. (INS)—Virginia's Jim Bakhtiar goes into the home stretch with a substantial lead in Atlantic Coast Conference individual total offense, but the hottest race in the history of the league is on for the passing crown.

Whitley Top Passer

Reece Whitley is No. 1 at the present time in 28 completions in 63 throws for 388 yards and 3 touchdowns. With places awarded on number of completions, trailing Whitley in order are Harvey White of Duke with 27, Bob Brodhead of Clemson and Nelson Yarborough of Virginia 24 each. Bob Rusevsky of Maryland 22, and Jack Cummings of North Carolina 21.

All six of the contenders have two games to play, except Brodhead and Rusevsky.

White has passed for the most yardage (442) and the most touchdowns (7). And the Clemson sophomore is a good third in total offense with the ACC's best per-play average, 5.8 yards a try.

White's Chance Best

Bakhtiar has 757 yards in total offense, all gained rushing, to lead total offense over Wray Carlton of Duke at 686 yards and White at 672. Carlton has just one game to play while White and Bakhtiar have two each, giving White the best chance to overtake Bakhtiar.

The rushing title is settled for all practical purposes with Bakhtiar the champ. He has 757 yards to Carlton's 632 and the 547 of N. C. State's Dick Christy, who also has just a single game remaining.

Grid Man Of Steel

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — (NEA)—A college football career, for Dave Kasperian, was something which seemed out of reach at Commerce High in Worcester, Kasperian, now Penn State's bread-and-butter ball carrier, was too small for the Commerce varsity until a senior and immediate ally after that entered the service as a paratrooper. Upon discharge, he worked in a steel mill and the results of jumping from planes and working at steel showed on his once-small body.

Now 5-9 and 185 pounds, Kasperian is a junior at Penn State and at 25 is called the "Old Man" by teammates. On a third and two situation he's nearly always the man they give the ball.

But Kasperian had as much trouble reaching this status for the Nittany Lions as he did impressing coaches enough to give him the chance to attend college. At the start of summer practice this season he was listed as third string.

Elliott Sees Grades, Grid Going Together

BERKELEY, Calif. — (NEA)—Pete Elliott, California coach, contributes this shocker:

"There is a definite correlation between good grades and good football. In my experience, the most successful teams had better academic standing than lesser teams." Elliott insists.

"Athletics needn't handicap a boy getting an education."

To back up Elliott, Pittsburgh points out that when its team took a two-week swing of the Pacific coast at the start of the season, the Panthers were escorted by a number of professors who conducted classes. College of the Pacific did the same when it traveled to the Midwest for games with Cincinnati and Marquette.

Abe Martin Doesn't Believe In 'Robots'

FORT WORTH, Texas — (NEA)—Abe Martin is against making robots of football players via sideline conferences with coaches during a game.

"I don't like the idea of even having one player over to the coach," says Texas Christian's head man. "A quarterback should be able to think, not be a puppet."

"Basketball players are coached during a game. But I'm not sure they're helped. Fans think basketball coaches are mapping high-falutin' strategy during a time-out huddle. Actually, they're saying nothing more profound than 'Get out there now and hit that old hoop!'"

Selkirk Says Drive Went Out Of Stadium

DENVER, Colo. — (INS)—George (Twinkletoes) Selkirk disagrees with those who say that nobody ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium.

"I don't want to get into an argument with anybody about it," Selkirk says. "But I did hit one out and it went up on the elevated tracks which run out beyond right centerfield."

Selkirk says his blow came in 1936 off Oral Hildebrand, then a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians. Twinkletoes is assistant manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

Brennan Fears 'Let Down,' Rates Sooners With Spartans

CHICAGO — (INS)—Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's most happy football coach, wants to beat Iowa next Saturday but the Irish coach fears a letdown by his team.

"I've got to get them out of the trees for practice today," the Irish coach said laughingly when asked how he felt about beating Oklahoma, 7 to 0, last Saturday.

"I would honestly say that we could have beaten any team in the United States last week," Brennan told the Chicago Football Writers Association from South Bend, Ind., by telephone.

On Par With Spartans

Brennan, however, lauded Oklahoma as one of the best teams in the country and said "the Sooners certainly are on a par with Michigan State."

Brennan added:

"We lost to Michigan State by a lopsided score but it was not one of our better games. We played an Oklahoma team that was just about as good as it was a year ago. We happened to be really ready for them and just because they lost doesn't make Michigan State better than the Sooners."

Brennan said he feared Iowa's big line which he said moves about as fast as any in the country. "They've got about the same team they had a year ago and we got beat badly in 1956," he recalled.

The Irish coach added:

"We will have to be just as great against Iowa this week as we were against Oklahoma in order to win. I am not deluding myself about that at all. Iowa has got probably one of the two best offenses in the country and they change it at a moment's notice."

All Eleven Work

Asked what he attributed the success of his team to this season, he answered:

"Probably the main reason is that my quarterback Bob Williams has improved enough to get the other 10 men to work behind him. He's done a better job of selecting plays but he has got to have the confidence of his teammates before he can do an adequate job."

"Williams did not have much experience and it's taken him most of the season to gain the poise and know how that a quarterback must possess. I don't, however, want to single out any players as playing better than any others because they have all done a fine job."

"If I had to name two whom I thought were doing an outstanding job I would say Al Ecuery (guard) and Nick Pietrosante (fullback) but it has been a real team effort this year. . . . The boys have finally come around and started to put forth their best efforts. I can't ask anything more."

Lasse All-American On Banquet Circuit

SYRACUSE — (NEA) — Dick Lasse may not wind up as an All-American, but he is every bit of one on the banquet circuit.

"Just watching him eat hurts!" says Coach Schwartzwalder.

Wildcats Eye Best Season Since 1948

By The Associated Press

Davidson's Wildcats and Furman's Hurricane each will have extra incentive to win when they collide in a Southern Conference football game at Greenville, S. C., Friday night.

For Davidson, which hasn't whipped Furman since 1948, a victory would mean its best season's record in 30 years. By winning, the Wildcats would finish 1957 and the sole meeting against business with a 6-2 mark mathematically equal to their 7-2-1 record in 1926.

Anxious For Baker

Furman has a double-barreled reason for wanting to extend its winning skin over Davidson to eight games. The Hurricane not only is anxious to improve its dismal 2-6 record — it's also eager to help quarterback Billy Baker become the nation's leading passer.

Baker's 78 pass completions presently is the fifth best total in the country. The passing leader is Bob Newman of Washington State, with 90. Newman, however, has only one game to play while Baker has two.

West Virginia labored to polish its passing game yesterday in preparation for a Syracuse defense the Mountaineer coaches warn may be able to contain West Virginia's potent running attack. Quarterbacks Mickey Trimark, Dick Longfellow and Chuck Simpson did the throwing in a scrimmage against the freshman squad. The Mounties then turned to drills on pass defense.

Welcome Respite

The Citadel welcomed a respite from the rain and held a lengthy defensive workout which Coach Eddie Teague called "real good."

VMI started work for its Thanksgiving Day joust with Virginia Tech by emphasizing calisthenics and running in a light drill.

Defense was stressed at Richmond, with the Spiders also giving time to their passing game. The William & Mary, Richmond's Thanksgiving foe, held a short shrimp cocktails, 15 steak frites and four turkey drumsticks on the side, not to mention a half dozen pieces of pie a la mode for desert.

"Just watching him eat hurts!" says Coach Schwartzwalder.

Hawks Regain Lead, St. Louis Again Second

By The Associated Press

The Western Division lead enjoyed by Detroit in the National Basketball Assn. was short lived. Today the Pistons were right back where they were three days ago, in second place behind the St. Louis Hawks.

The combination of the Hawks' 118-115 victory over New York Knickerbockers and Detroit's 92-75 setback by Cincinnati's Royals was responsible for the shift in the standings.

The Hawks, who dropped into the runner-up spot Sunday night, had to rally in the second half to overcome the Knicks in the feature of last night's doubleheader in St. Louis. The winners outscored New York 66-36 in the second half.

Bob Pettit, as usual, was the St. Louis star. He scored 33 points and had help from Win Wilfong, Jack McMahon and Ed Macauley as the Hawks snapped a 101-101 deadlock with five minutes to go and wrapped it up. Richie Guerin, playing his first game of the season, was high for the losers with 20 points. He had been out with a fractured thumb.

Detroit, which fell one game behind St. Louis, got only 17 points from their big gun, George Yardley. At that, the Pistons held Cincinnati to a 37-37 tie after three quarters. But the Royals finished strong. Clyde Lovellette paced the winners with 23 points.

Former State Official Pay Case In Court

ANNAPOLIS—The Court of Appeals has been asked to rule on Maryland's constitutional restriction on salary increases for public officials during their terms of office.

The State claims the restriction applies to a public officer filling an unexpired term and says a former Employment Security Board chairman should refund $3,640 in salary payments.

Daniel E. Klein, the official involved, was appointed Nov. 2, 1953 to serve the balance of an unexpired term after the resignation of William Mahaney.

Klein was paid at the rate of $10,000 a year and by the time his service ended on April 15, 1955, he had been paid $14,560.

The chairman's salary had been raised to $10,000 in June, 1951, while Mahaney was in office, but he did not benefit because of the constitutional restriction. And a brief filed with the high court by the State comptroller's office contends Klein should have been paid at the old rate of $7,500 yearly.

When the case was heard in Baltimore Circuit Court, Judge James K. Cullen ruled the words "his term of office," in the constitution means the term during which the particular public officer serves and does not mean the particular term of the office itself.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I often find truths in reading your column, that help us to better understand ourselves and others.

We have bought several of the publications to which you have referred and, although we attend church regularly, we have found a new world of Christian concepts opening to us, as a result of sharing your thinking.

We have no problems other than the more or less routine trials of a busy life with three small fry; but we both want to thank you for the inspiration and understanding that you are giving us.—C. G.

Brackets Us With President

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a busy middle-aged mother and have little time for reading. But I was impressed by your answer of October 22nd to the letter of clubwomen who think you need a vacation!

For a long time, I have wished that I might slip into the White House and commend our President for giving due consideration to God and in seeking His guidance when pondering the needs and problems of our great nation.

I think it gives one reassurance to feel that there is a Christian man at the head of our government. And yet my husband, a postal clerk, insists that President Eisenhower is only the friend of big business. Criticism upon criticism—but it doesn't change my gratitude.

I am glad you have the outlook you do, Mary. "In quietness and confidence shall be your strength," as the Good Book says. God bless you. Sincerely, R. G.

Woman's View Always Personal

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: To my way of thinking, you, as a woman, are much more effective in dealing with matters of emotional health than men could ever be. They just don't have the definitely personal responsiveness to individuals, that distinguishes one from others of his kind, that you manifest.

Your concern is detailed, exact, particular and specific, in suggesting how things should be done, or help supplied, in meeting individual health requirements (of body, mind or affairs).

You seem to possess the dynamic power of new affection in serving others as you serve God—the one thing so needful today.

Like Mary in the Bible, the sister of Martha, you have chosen "that better part." Good success to you. Sincerely, R. N.

Let Christians Speak As Such

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: That bevy of clubwomen who wrote you recently complaining that your religious sense shows in your writings, and that you aren't always as sympathetic or down-to-earth as they'd like you to be don't really want advice—yours or anybody's. They only want to be encouraged to think they are doing right, in whatever they do.

As for your instruction to a discontented mother, which they criticized, I read that too; and speaking from comparable experience, I'd say you gave a perfect answer—in challenging her to wake up and grow. As for counselling in a religious way, isn't that the only way, if one considers oneself a Christian? I am for all your good advice; please keep it up.—J. B.

Rallies Warmly To Our Defense

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am furious with those women who criticized you on October 22nd. I think you give remarkably sound advice. You consider each case on its own merits and prescribe accordingly—and do a darn good job of it. Perhaps those biddies could do with a dose of psychotherapy themselves. Something seems to be gnawing at them—but I am sure it isn't you! Sincerely, A. A.

DEAR FRIENDS: Thanks for these kind words. It seems only fair to balance criticism of a given aspect, with the other viewpoint as well. Also I think letters of pure opinion, pro or con, make interesting reading for all of us, from time to time. I hope the audience agrees—on that point at least.—M. H.

County Issues Three Permits

The Allegany County Assessing Department issued three building permits in the past few days.

Arthur C. Morgan, 1003 Oldtown Road, was issued a permit to construct a 20 feet by 28 feet dwelling which will cost approximately $3,000. The home will have composition panel walls, concrete foundation and a built up asphalt roof.

Nulnor C. McKenzie was granted a permit to build a 22 feet by 26 feet on story addition to a dwelling on B Street in LaVale. The addition is expected to cost about $2,000. It will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a composition roof.

Glenn T. Howell, of Barton, received a permit to build a double garage with a small apartment above. The 22 feet by 26 feet building is expected to cost $1,000 to construct.

It will have rock and frame walls and a tar paper roof. A two-car garage will be razed.

Good Range Makes Wives Better Cooks

Many Women Would Be Thankful For Christmas Stove

Could a woman want a better gift from St. Nick than to hear her husband say, "My wife's the best cook in the world?"

Well, appliance manufacturers have developed their ranges to a point where even your undemonstrative hubby might be saying it this Christmas.

What with all the fussing there is around holiday time, many a housewife would be thankful just to know that her Christmas dinner will be done right, and on time. But a woman likes to feel that her holiday meals are something special.

Not only your holiday meals, but meals all-year-round can be special, with a modern automatic range.

You Can't Miss

Even the best of cooks have boil-overs, burnt food and scorched cooking vessels, but now that's all impossible. These housewife's enemies haven't a chance, with new top burner controls, which keep the precise temperature at which you set them, be it 150 degrees for mashed potatoes, or 400 degrees for French fries.

Automatic roast controls eliminate all the guesswork from roasting. Before leaving the house, the housewife decided at what hour the roast should be started and whether she'd like it rare, medium or well done. She sets the controls accordingly, sticks a probe into the meat, and the range takes over. It will stay at a steady temperature until the roast reaches the indicated degree of "doneness" and shut off automatically when the meat is ready for serving.

Rotisseries are included in better ranges, and there may be as many as three spits. Combined with other range features, the rotisserie lures you into preparing such exotic new foods for yourself and family, as shish-kebab.

Ovens are getting larger, and even 30-inch ranges may have a 24-inch oven. Some ranges have two ovens, permitting simultaneous baking of items that require different times and temperatures. This enables you to do all your Christmas baking at once—pies, and meat, for example. Two-broilers in a single range are becoming more common, too, another feature that helps you do your work better and more quickly.

Ovens, of course, respond to pre-set temperatures, lighting up or buzzing or otherwise informing the housewife when her work is done. Fifth burners, convertible to griddles or deep fryers, further advance the range's utility, as do toasting compartments.

Easier To Clean

Ease of cleaning is being stressed more and more. Some ranges are built so that their entire top lifts up for cleaning. Some have oven racks that can't be pulled out too far, but far enough for cleaning.

Appliance makers have added some extras for your convenience, such as broiling trays that double as serving trays and disposable aluminum liners for burner bowls.

And, as far as good looks are concerned, ranges are becoming more and more appealing to the eye.

As with the man you married, it might be the good looks that attracted you, but it's the good qualities that make you love him. You'll love your new range.

Steel Kitchen Adds Beauty And Function

Perfect Center For Getting Chores Done With Minimum Effort

A happy marriage of function and beauty has taken place in your steel kitchen sink.

Whether your preference is gleaming white stainless steel or any one of the host of beautiful colors appliance manufacturers have developed, your sink today provides a perfect center for getting your kitchen chores done with a minimum of effort.

Not only does today's sink cabinet house improved wash and spray rinse appurtenances, but it has advanced in other directions as well.

Imagine getting rid of most of your garbage simply with the aid of an automatic waste disposer, installed in your sink. No more having to get dressed just to go outside with the garbage in all kinds of weather; no more accumulation of garbage.

You can install a towel dryer under your sink, too, if you're no lucky enough to own an automatic dishwasher. Many dishwashers, incidentally, can be installed under the sink.

Things Of Beauty
Sink cabinets in themselves are beautiful things. Some sink tops come with fluorescent lighting on the backplash. Modern drawer and door design highlight many new sinks, with doors insulated to eliminate noise in closing.

Sinks come recessed at the bottom, so you can do your work up close without fear of stubbing your toe, or marring the finish. Many are recessed under the sink top to provide knee room, so you can sit while you work.

A wide variety of special drawers is offered under the sink — cutlery drawers, vegetable keeper, soap bar, bread box and many others. Shelves slide out and are adjustable up and down.

There is no need to postpone the Christmas purchase of an efficient, attractive and sparkling new cabinet sink or drainboard because, "I want to wait until I remodel my whole kitchen."

Because sinks are usually made by the same manufacturer that produces complete kitchens, you can buy the sink new and have no worries about its blending in to the kitchen you want to remodel at a later date.

Steel sinks are made in a variety of widths: 48, 54 and 60 inches being the most common. They are available with drawers and storage space on one or both sides.

Decorator Colors
You can purchase a drainboard-type sink complete with a one-piece steel top in gleaming white or in a variety of decorator colors. Or, if you prefer the fashion appeal and lifetime finish of stainless steel, you will find available a variety of sizes of cabinet sinks that may be fitted with stainless steel tops or stainless steel drop in bowls.

In any case, you will find it simple to find the right style and size for your requirements. Whether it is just the beginning of a complete new kitchen or a part of a newly remodeled kitchen, a new steel sink is easy to buy and install. It will provide a durable Christmas gift that will be appreciated through the years.

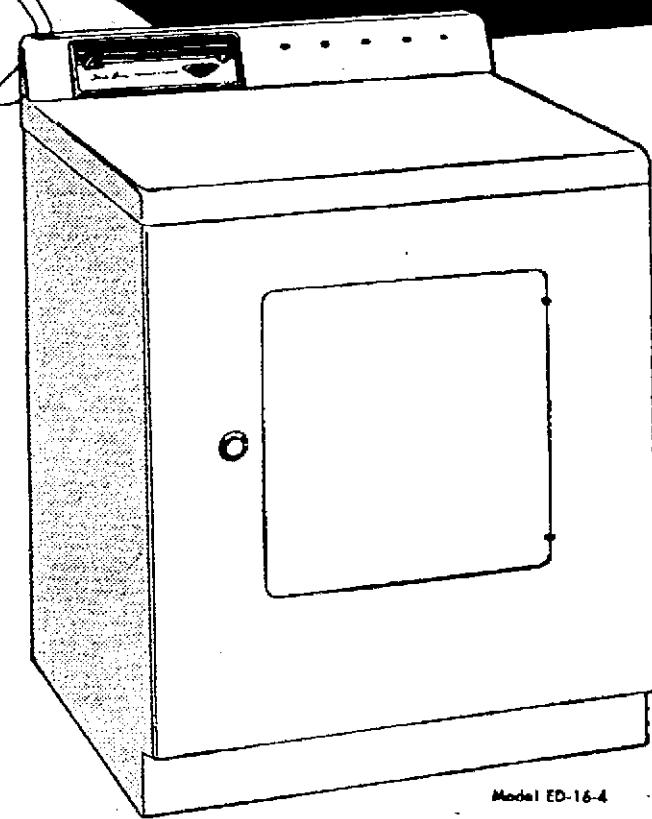

Diced or sliced rutabaga will need from 20 to 40 minutes cooking in boiling salted water.

Questions About Use Of Dishwashers Answered

Reprinted from Kitchen Business.

(This is a list of questions customers ask most frequently about automatic electric dishwashers, and the answers based on research by manufacturers and independent testing bureaus.)

QUESTION: Do dishwashers really save much time?

ANSWER: In an average household, you spend 73.2 minutes a day doing 3,795 dishes each month, and you use 42 dish towels. With a dishwasher, you spend 35.6 minutes per day — less than half the time — and use far fewer dish towels, also.

Q: Do they really get dishes clean?

A: They get dishes and silverware cleaner because the hotter water (135-160 degrees Fahrenheit) than in hand-washing, kill more bacteria, and dry more completely. Dishpan water is used only up to 120 F.

Q: Don't they damage silver and china?

A: They absolutely do not damage sterling or plated silver. Nor do they affect most china. Some fragile overglaze decorations may be affected after lengthy use in a dishwasher, but they can suffer as much or more from abrasions and handling of hand-washing.

Q: Don't they break dishes?

A: No. Simple loading and plastic coated racks prevent most breakage. The well known "Ohio study" showed average monthly breakage of nine dishes by hand-washing, reduced to two by use of a dishwasher.

Q: How much hot water do they take?

A: Only six to nine gallons for a complete cycle which washes and dries service for eight—less than is used to wash by hand. Efficient water use and circulation make this possible.

Q: Isn't it necessary to scrape to rinse dishes first?

A: Yes. Food particles stuck to dishes, silver, pots and pans, should be scraped first, just as would be done before hand-washing. When a quick rinse or scrape is needed, you will find it takes little time while you are loading your dishwasher.

Q: How about cutlery and plastic dinnerware?

A: Cutlery should not be placed continuously in dishwasher to protect wood handles and cutting edges. Good melamine plastic

DISHWASHER TAKES OVER—A dishwasher in the kitchen is a sign that there won't be any "absentee hostessing" in your house. For while your dishwasher is automatically washing and drying the dinnerware, silverware and glasses, you can be displaying your talents as a gracious host. You can put the dishes away anytime—after your guests leave, or the next morning.

dinnerware will never be damaged in a dishwasher. Some inexpensive plastics cannot stand high dishwasher temperatures.

Q: Can I use soap or detergent in a dishwasher?

A: You can use only those detergents made especially for dishwashers, such as Electra-Sol, Calgonite, Cascade, Thanx, Dish-All, Finish, and others. Soaps and laundry detergents will only cause clog, overflow, poor washing action.

Q: Does it cost a lot to install?

A: That depends on the condition and layout of your kitchen; plumbing wiring, etc. Installation should be made by a qualified man only. If the cost seems prohibitive, consider a portable or mobile unit.

Q: Don't they 'spot' silver and glass?

A: Not the dishwasher itself, but if you have hard water that may cause some spotting, which is easily removed with towel.

New improvements, both in dish-washers and detergents, are eliminating this problem.

Happy Ending As In Old 'Thrillers' Dishwasher Buy, Survey Reveals

looked like a scene for a movie. Ben Capps was halfway across a narrow trestle when a train bore down on him. He didn't have a chance of getting off in time, not unless he jumped to almost certain death 75 feet below.

The engineer applied the brakes but the train didn't stop until the locomotive and several cars had run over Capps.

Several trainmen jumped off and began looking for the body. It couldn't be found.

Finally some one spotted Capps in a crowd of spectators.

He had escaped by squeezing down between cross-ties, then crawling from beneath the train before it backed off the trestle.

Capps only injuries were a scratched back and a torn shirt.

It may be a woman's world, but a research team found that almost half the purchases of automatic dishwashers were inspired by the men in the house.

They also found that:

1. Almost everybody would like to own a dishwasher.

2. Dishwashers are regarded as a luxury.

3. Ownership is a symbol of both financial success and social status.

4. The chief source of information about dishwashers seems to be friends of owners. Also, there is a strong influence to the purchase of dishwashers spreading from friend to friend.

When a recipe calls for food being cut julienne-style, cut it into match-size strips.

Here's How To Get Best Out Of Your Dryer

As with a finely-tuned automobile engine, you can get more "mileage" out of your automatic clothes dryer by following some simple rules of the road.

To get better drying results, and to insure that your dryer will perform more efficiently for a longer period, the National L.P. Gas Council has the following suggestions to make:

1. Be sure the drum is wiped clean before using the dryer.

2. Do not overload the dryer. Complaints about slow operation are usually due to overloading the dryer and not allowing clothes sufficient room to tumble.

3. Sort items for washing and drying at one time. Similar fabrics require the same drying time and temperature. It's easier to transfer load directly from washer to dryer than to sort wet clothes.

4. Do not overdry. Overdrying causes static electricity in synthetic fabrics and also causes wrinkles to set. Limp clothes are also caused to over-

dry. Dry starched clothes with other starched clothes. In the case of nylon or dacron curtains, for example, put a couple of dry terry towels in with the curtains. Towels will absorb excess starch and leave crisp finish on curtains. 5. Use top of dryer as folding and smoothing surface.

Doing The Laundry No Problem If You Follow Wife's Methods

So your wife has just gone out or grease stained areas. Close the door. Wash the white clothes first, hot water. Wash the white clothes first, hot water. Wash the white clothes first, hot water.

Here are a few tips on doing clothes of natural fibers can stand the hottest water.

For bleaching, follow directions on the package to obtain the proper amount. Add the bleach to the water and allow the machine to agitate for a full minute. Use a measuring cup and follow the directions on the box or bottle when adding detergent. Remember that too many suds cut down the washing action.

When loading the machine, place about nine pounds of clothes in the machine (if the washer is standard size), or load the machine until the loosely folded clothes come within two inches of the tip of the agitator basket.

Large pieces should be mixed with smaller items, rather than heavy sheets and pillow cases, proper amount of agitation followed by the dryer temperature on low or warm.

After the white things are washed, the light colored items of the load.

Have their turn. If your machine is equipped with a suds-saving device you can use the same dried water, or if fresh water is drawn, turn the water temperature down to "warm."

The next load will contain more heavily soiled cottons. Use clean, hot water.

When you do the synthetic fibers, if you have an automatic machine, set the wash temperature at "cool" and the agitation and spin speeds at "slow" or "synthetic fabrics" setting. Separate by colors. Put clothes in washer and let it run its complete cycle.

Follow Directions

Follow directions on starch package as to amount. Pour the starch in the machine and let it mix with the water before putting in the clothes. After the load is removed, wipe the agitator basin with a clean cloth to remove excess starch.

As each load of clothes comes much heat, either in the washer from the automatic washer load or into the dryer. For loads of Washing in cold water with the proper amount of agitation followed by the dryer temperature on low or warm.

"high" with the time at 35 to 45 minutes, causes wrinkles to pop out and leave clothes looking fresh.

That's it, mister. Really nothing to it, is there? What's that? You say if everything's that simple, you'll offer to take care of the dishes, set the dryer house and let your wife go to the work. Good deal.

Washing Machine Helps Cut Your Clothes Budget

Laundering at home has advantages other than the luxury of owning automatic laundry equipment.

By doing your own laundry, for example, only a single stock of clothing and linen is required. No longer is it necessary to have double quantities of everything—one in use and one at the laundry. Your washables are always on hand for immediate use.

Sorting, counting and listing separate articles is unnecessary also, when the laundry is not sent out, but done at home.

Lost articles always turn up because clothes never leave home, and pairs find their way back to each other again, even if laundered in different loads on different days.

Range Spots Cleaned

A rag saturated with household ammonia can be placed over stubborn dried spots on your range and left overnight. The next day the spots should come off easily after scouring and washing.

Changing Of Kitchen Color Proves Easy

Modern Paints Available To Match Or Bring Contrast

Changing the color of your kitchen cabinets is simpler than changing the color of the kitchen itself.

Alkyd-resin paints, now being manufactured by several paint companies, are available in colors to match, harmonize, or contrast with the colors that are found on most major appliances.

By changing the color of your kitchen cabinets, you can add new brightness and light to your kitchen. And with the paints that are available for the job, it's so simple that a housewife can do it in her spare time.

In preparing your cabinets for a new coat of paint, it is first necessary to roughen the surface if it has a glossy finish. Sandpaper, moistened with turpentine, will do the job. The surface of the cabinets should also be cleaned of dirt and grease with turpentine.

The finishes provided by the alkyd-resin paints will mean grease and stain resistant steel cabinets for years.

Label Freezer Packs

When wrapping food for storage in a freezer label each package with the date of storage, kind of food and, when necessary, weight or quantity.

SURPRISE, MOMMY, SURPRISE — It sure is a surprise when Mommy comes into the kitchen to find her new automatic washer and dryer. And there will be many more surprises when she starts to use her new appliances. There is no garment, whether it's made of the usual natural fibers or the new synthetic materials, that can't be washed and dried in today's automatic washer and dryer.

Keep Quiet

Steel kitchen cabinet doors are insulated with a sound deadening material and are equipped with rubber stops so that the younger members of the family can slam doors without driving mother to distraction.

Five Minutes Only

About five minutes are required to prepare dishes and load a dishwasher, compared with 35 minutes needed to scrape, rinse, dry and put away dishes when the work is done by hand.

Handy with a decorating tube? You can use it to force hot mashed sweet potatoes over the top of creamed chicken and have a pie! Bake in a hot oven.

Installment Buying Aids In Appliance Purchases

By OTTO C. LORENZ

Associate Editor

The AMERICAN BANKER

Installment buying has made it possible for every family to have the appliances it needs—when it needs them.

There is little reason to wait until all the cash is available before buying the appliances you need, because with a new baby in the house, for example, certain appliances are necessary—and right away. A washer and a dryer, it is known, are invaluable for a new mother who is taking on the additional work of a baby and needs all the extra time and energy she can get.

She can have those appliances now by purchasing on the installment plan. Then she can have the use of the work-saving servants when she needs their help the most.

If you're wondering how installment credit buying affects the saving habit, a special study of consumer installment credit made at President Eisenhower's request for the Federal Reserve Board reports that: "Consumers' desire to save and the importance of savings were not impaired by their extensive use of installment buying."

Even if you have cash on hand, there may still be good reason to buy on installment. For, if you what a saving in laundry bills, retain your full savings and go into debt to buy an appliance, the now that the machines were fully installed will prevent the frit-paid for!

tering away of income on unnecessary items.

There is no formula for determining how much of a family's income can be spent on monthly payment plans. However, two years ago a family with two children and $5,000 annual income spent about $48 a month on monthly payment plans. This figure is out to be about 12.7 per cent of the take home pay.

But the amount that can be spent each month is an individual family matter, and should be figured out with care. For instance some families in that same income bracket were committed to as much as $75 a month on monthly payments for cars, refrigerators, washing machines, household appliances and home improvements.

Checking revealed that they met their payments promptly and didn't get into trouble—chiefly because some one made the food of consumer installment credit and clothing dollars do a really made at President Eisenhower's request for the Federal Reserve Board reports that: "Consumers' desire to save and the importance of savings were not impaired by their extensive use of installment buying."

Even if you have cash on hand, there may still be good reason to buy on installment. For, if you what a saving in laundry bills, retain your full savings and go into debt to buy an appliance, the now that the machines were fully installed will prevent the frit-paid for!

Automatic Ironers Bring Emancipation To Women

The originator of the proverb "hard work never hurt anybody," could not have been the one who did the family ironing by hand.

Anyone who had this chore to perform knows what a "back breaker" it literally is, and there are scientific studies to support this belief.

No wonder the arrival of automatic ironers was hailed by housewives everywhere as a "great emancipator."

Consider the time saving. Where ironing by hand requires hours to do, you can do shirts with an automatic ironer at the rate of one in our minutes.

And while the woman who does the ironing for a family of four by hand does four tons of lifting a week—just in picking up the iron—doing the job with an automatic ironer is effortless. You sit while the appliance does the work.

No more tired arms, aching back, or abdominal and leg strain. Your clothes are neat, fresh, machine-perfect; your sheets have a wonderful silky finish.

You'll be proud of your work. You'll feel refreshed at the end of your ironing—no more look or feel of drudgery.

The hours you formerly spent at the ironing board you now will be able to enjoy doing so many of the things you wanted to do "if only I didn't have this ironing."

Celery and Worcestershire sauce help to give good flavor to a fish chowder.

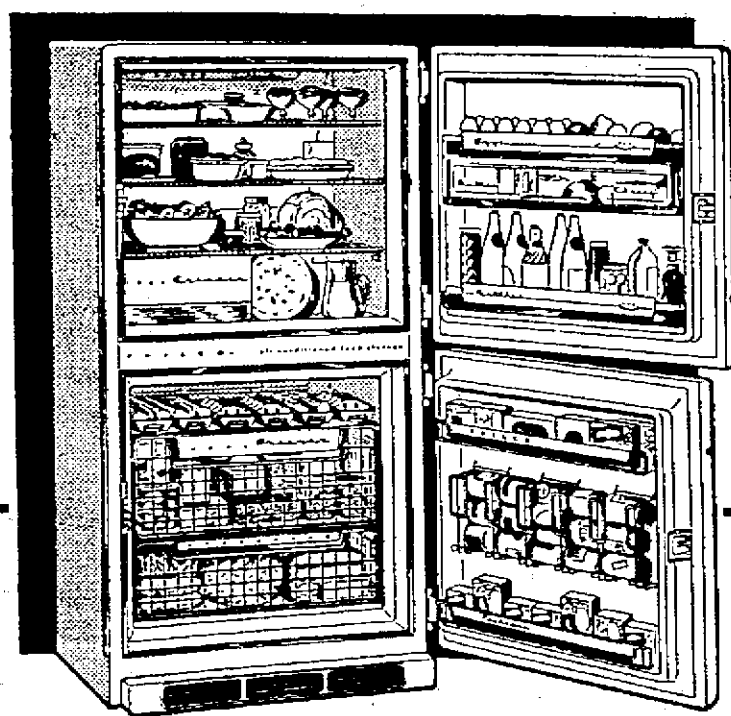

HMMM, GOOD—AND SAFE:

Cooking is quick, easy and cool in an electronic oven. And it's safe, too, because an open door is the signal that everything has stopped.

Bacon won't burn on the new GAS Burner with a Brain. Why? Because when you set the temperature, there's an automatic "sensing" control that simply won't let the food get any hotter.

Washed potatoes stay warm without driving out. You merely set the dial to a keep-warm temperature. When potatoes reach just the right heat, the automatic burner turns the flame down. If they start to cool off, it turns the flame up.

Deep-fried food won't get soggy. The secret of perfect deep-frying is having the temperature of the fat just right. With the new GAS Burner with a Brain, there's no guesswork, no need to buy a separate deep-fryer—just dial the right cooking temperature.

Appliances Help Wives Do Chores

A Few Ideas Will Help Housewives Do Work Easier

The appliances that you receive to make your Christmas a White Christmas will be on hand to serve you 365 days a year.

Long after the mistletoe has fallen from its archway perch, and the tree ornaments have been stored on the top shelf for another year, the appliances at your disposal will continue to make your day easier and your role as a homemaker more fulfilling.

Just look around the house at your helpers: washer, dryer, ironer, range, freezer, refrigerator, dishwasher, water heater and others. They are ready to serve your needs at the press of a button or the flip of a switch. Put them to work for you and all the usual chores around the house are suddenly made easier. Not only will you get the job done faster, but with less effort.

One strong team to help you around the house is your automatic laundry equipment. While you are taking care of some of the work upstairs, the washer and dryer are pitching in with some of the heaviest work downstairs.

For example, as the floors are being washed or waxed, the shag or scatter rugs that covered them can be in the process of washing and drying, all automatically.

Two Things At Once

And when you're polishing up the windows in the kitchen or bedroom, just throw the curtains into the washer. By the time all the windows are finished, the curtains will be dry. If they are made of the new synthetic fabrics, chances are they can be hung right up. If not, your automatic ironer will take care of the pressing job in a few shakes.

The washer and dryer team can, of course, be used to launder the best table linen or the most fragile and sensitive clothing in your closet or drawers. Your machine's setting for delicate fabrics will give these valuable treasures as careful a washing as if you were doing it by hand — and with less work for you.

One job that has to be done about three times a day, every day of the year (except when you're lucky enough to go to a restaurant for dinner) is the dishes. This task takes up more of milady's time during the course of her day — and year — than any other household chore. With an automatic dishwasher standing by ready to do its job, the miseries of dishwashing are a thing of the past.

You will always be sure that all your dishes, silverware, and glassware will be bacteria-free when this appliance unleashes its spray of scalding hot water and detergent.

While You Sleep

A steady stream of this hot water, whether it be for your clothes washer, dishwasher, general house cleaning, or your own bath, is always assured when there is a rapid recovery water heater supplying your needs.

In your kitchen you have two appliances that work even when you are sleeping, to make sure that the foods you bought are stored properly and kept until you are ready to cook or eat them — your freezer and refrigerator.

With a freezer in the house, it's actually possible to begin making a special dinner weeks in advance. You can do the preparation when you have some extra time on your hands. When it's time to get it ready for the table, all you have to do is thaw it out and it will taste as if you just finished making it.

The refrigerator is indispensable for the cold storage of foods that are to be used within a reasonable length of time. With the newest conveniences in these appliances, there is never any trouble finding the butter, cheeses, bacon, vegetables, eggs, and many other items, because there are special bins for their placement.

Always A Winner

When it comes to cooking, every homemaker can vie for top honors when she owns a modern kitchen range. Whether it's used to simply keep a pot of mashed potatoes warm or in the preparation of a delicate sauce, a new range can serve you with temperature controlling features, timers, thermometers and other conveniences.

Tuning Device For TV Picture

By International News Service
Now there's a device that automatically tunes the picture every time you switch channels on your TV set.

The new tuner adjusts the picture as you switch from one channel to another.

WITH THE DISHES AWAY, YOU CAN PLAY—Mom and Dad have plenty of time to put the finishing touches on the children's gifts while the dishes are being washed and dried automatically. There is at least an hour of extra time each day when you have one of these automatic servants in your house.

Broil some drained canned pine-drizzled with melted butter or apple slices to serve with broiled margarine before going under 24, 27 and 30 inch widths and can lamb chops. The pineapple should be broiled shortly before the be sprinkled with sugar and chops are done.

Freezer Can Help Make Christmas Party More Fun

Too often a Christmas party is fun for everybody except the hostess. With a freezer, however, the hostess can have more fun than anybody. Because, in addition to enjoying the party, she has the knowledge that she's achieved a social success with a minimum of effort.

To eliminate most of the fuss involved in getting ready for the affair, plan the party menu, prepare the delicacies in advance and freeze them. On the day of the big event all that's needed is to remove the party food from the freezer, ready for serving.

All kinds of foods can be frozen — cakes, nut breads, fruits, sandwich spreads, canapes and pies or even a steak or Cornish game hen. Many kinds of containers, packages and wrapping materials have appeared on the market to keep party delicacies fresh and good tasting. A container that's moisture and vapor proof is a must.

The combination of quality food, some advance planning, and a modern freezer guarantees a merry Christmas for everyone, particularly the housewife.

Dishwasher Widths

Dishwashers are available in 24, 27 and 30 inch widths and can be used either as a portable or a permanently installed appliance.

New Refrigerators Have Many Excellent Features

New refrigerators make it so easy to be the perfect housewife. And that applies to budget, as well as high priced models.

Today's refrigerators come equipped with such quality-insurance features as separate cooling systems for fresh and frozen food, special locker shelves that maintain proper temperature for chilling beverages and salads, automatic butter keeper, and meat compartments.

Freezing compartments are now larger, and permit easier storage, what with package dispensers and pull-out bins or shelves. Many models have their freezing compartments at the bottom, so that every-day foods in the refrigerator section, are at more accessible heights.

Some refrigerators require only the touch of a toe on a foot pedal to open the door. This leaves both hands free, a blessing that any housewife recognizes. Some models have doors that can be opened by a slight press with the elbow, again allowing both hands to be free. One company has a handle the length of the door, for easy opening. Some open at the touch of finger grips at the base.

Magnetic doors require only a tap to close them. You can select a door to open either right or left, laundered.

Long Lasting

Tests indicate that home washed linens and clothing last from 33 1/2 per cent to 100 per cent longer than those commercially laundered.

Yule Guests Can Be Feted From Freezer

Gift-Wrapped Items Will Take Care Of Unexpected Guests

How often have you had an unexpected guest drop in during the Christmas holidays for whom you hadn't prepared any gift? Or maybe it was someone you overlooked on your Christmas list.

Whatever the reason, it always results in hurrying and scurrying through the gifts you received and can't use or your own dresser drawers to find something—just anything—to give to your guest.

You can prepare yourself for such emergencies, and have some fun at the same time. Your freezer will do the trick for you. When you have some spare time a week or two before Christmas, you can prepare tea rings, home-made rolls, special loaves of nut bread, plum puddings and a wide variety of other special foods. Just wrap them for freezing and store in your freezer. That's one place that will keep what you baked as fresh as the day you made them.

You can gift-wrap each item separately, using a wide variety of freezer papers and containers, and attractive cellophane, foil and plastic. This sure makes for easy and quick gift giving.

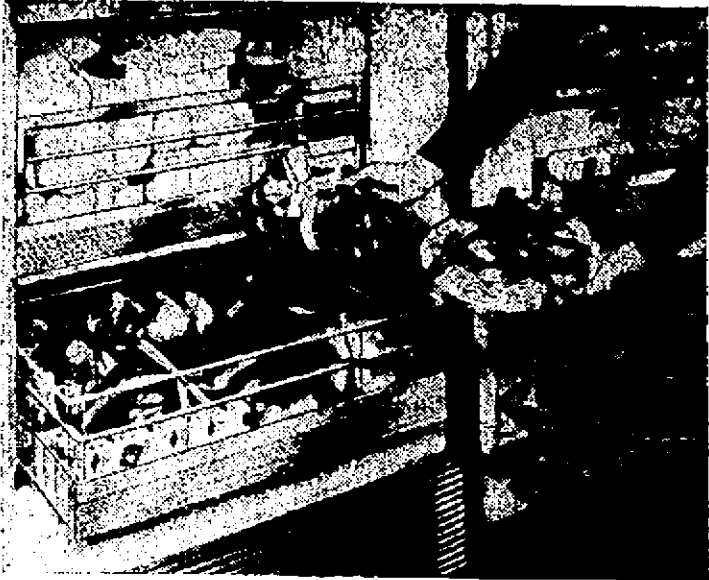

If you devote one section of your freezer for these gifts, you can save the wrapping until you are ready to give it away. But if you spread the packages throughout the general food area of your freezer, it's best to wrap the packages first so they can be easily identified.

The variety of gifts that you can prepare in advance is endless. Cookies, cakes and candy are only a few. An especially nice gift is your favorite fruit pie frozen in a new plastic container and tied with gay ribbon. This gift corner in your freezer will give you a generous supply of personalized remembrances for any occasion, wrapped and ready to give at a moment's notice.

And when the holiday's over and there are some things that you haven't given away, you can plan on using them at your own table.

Trick With Ice

Ice cubes may be used to skim the grease from gravy or a stew. When ice is dropped into the hot liquid, surplus grease collects around the cube and may be easily lifted out.

ROLL OUT GIFT TRAY — You're never caught without any gifts for that unexpected visitor when you prepare cakes, cookies, pies, candies, etc., ahead of time and store them in your freezer. After wrapping them for the freezer, you can add gaily colored gifts wrapping. They're always handy—and always fresh.

Kitchen Appliances Feature Square Look

Good looks are keeping up with the tremendous mechanical improvements in modern major appliances.

Probably the most significant style change has been what different manufacturers call the sheer or square look.

Because of this style's uncluttered, clean, square design, free-standing appliances can fit snugly into cabinet arrangements and look like built-ins. Straight sides and right angle corners can be placed cozily against the straight sides of standard or custom-built cabinets without major carpentry.

Recessed hinges permit refrigerator models in this style to be placed against a side wall without having to allow space for door swing, since the door opens fully within its frame.

Built-ins themselves are rising in popularity, with virtually all appliances available in this fashion.

Stack-on units, appliances made to fit standard counter-tops, give the built-in look, too, without need of carpentry. The built-in look is also carried out with drop-in units, which require either that a hole be cut in the existing counter, or that it be placed in a counter that was pre-cut by the manufacturer.

Pre-assembled packaged kitchens, which combine several basic appliances in a single framework, are being produced by more and more manufacturers. Smartly styled, these units are between seven and nine feet long, and are ideal for the modern-minded homemaker with limited kitchen space.

Equipment that stands alone and is portable continues to have its appearance improved.

Like free standing or built-in appliances, these are available in various materials and colors.

Whatever your choice, you'll find the new look in kitchens is a good one.

Servants In Home Being Replaced By Appliances

By the end of this decade, the household servant is likely to be a thing of the past in this country.

Domestics are being replaced by major appliance automation.

According to figures cited by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, there were 420,119 domestics employed in 1930; only 226,781 in 1940, and only 140,290 by 1950. The 1950 figure averages out to a little more than three domestics per 100 dwellings.

Modern kitchens with thermostatically controlled and easy-to-clean ranges and other appliances have cut the need for domestic help.

American women still have household help, but it's tending away from the human.

New Hot Water Heaters Of Future Will Handle Four Loads Of Wash

With your new water heater, it will be possible to spend a rainy day at home and do three or four loads of wash, rather than limiting yourself to one wash a day for fear of exhausting the supply of hot water.

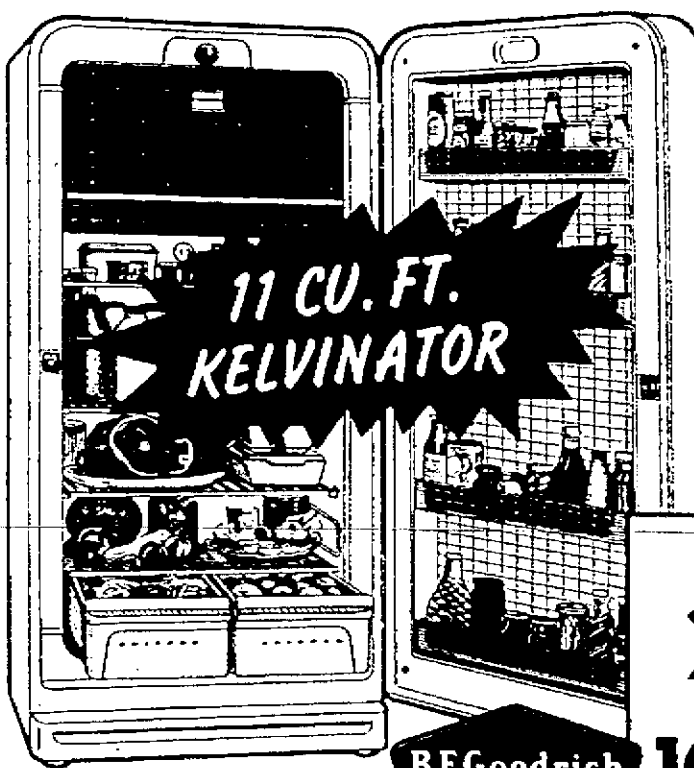

And, of course, all this washing is being done while you're in the den watching the afternoon television show or reading the latest best-selling novel. Some of the family's most beneficial and healthful living resulting from hot water are found in automatic dishwashing. Ideally, dishes being washed by hand should have water of between 130 and 150 degrees. But this is too hot to touch. So, hand-washed dishes do not usually get the bacteria killing benefits of hot water.

But in an automatic dishwasher, the temperature of the water can be as high as 160 or 180 degrees.

When water of that high temperature is used, you can be sure that any bacteria or germs that have been on the dishes will be washed off. The possibility of a dish being a disease-carrier is just about eliminated.

White Christmas Featuring Ranges Provides Homemaker With Many Cooking Opportunities

By MARGARET SPADER
Home Service Editor, Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association

A White Christmas featuring a new range provides the homemaker with many opportunities for spotlighting her cooking achievements. Spectaculars like the flaming plum pudding, the magnificent goose, beautiful Christmas breads and cookies and tantalizing hors d'oeuvres will not confine mother to the kitchen. For the first time she is free to enjoy family and friends while the trusty automatic range keeps sentinel in the kitchen.

Christmas dinner, this year, means no staggered schedule for the already overworked oven. The majestic goose or turkey can take its time to roast to golden perfection while rolls, pies or casserole dishes always baked at higher temperatures go into another oven or the "roast-o-grill," or await their turn on the time schedule. By checking the various foods on the Christmas dinner menu you can determine in advance what should cook where. And by thoughtful planning, the enterprising homemaker can put the workload on her range while she participates in the family fun during this blessed season.

Easy Does It

The holiday dinner menu presented at the right time shows how last-minute cooking frustrations can be kept to a minimum. Featuring traditional Yuletide foods, which can be cooked to perfection with thermostatically controlled burners, it also takes into account the cooking facilities of the average kitchen as well as a distribution of work that frees the cook the day of the dinner.

King Turkey will probably reign over your Christmas dinner table as it will in millions of homes throughout the country. So that you can be Queen of the dinner, here are some tips that you should follow to make this holiday feast one to remember. Turkey may be kept in the refrigerator two or three days before cooking. Remove the pin feathers with tweezers or paring knife. Be sure the oil sac above the tail is cut out and all pieces washed every hour all day long without running out of hot water.

THE MOST ELABORATE HOLIDAY MENU, from fancy hors d'oeuvres to flaming plum pudding, is as much fun for the cook as for the guests when she has a modern range.

Even if the family uses three times as much as the average, there is always ample hot water!

Finishing It Off

Wash the turkey inside and out, dry well and stuff the neck and body cavity. Sew or skewer the openings and place the stuffed trussed turkey breast side up on a low rack set in a baking pan. Cover the top of the bird with a clean piece of cloth dipped in melted shortening or butter.

A roast meat thermometer inserted between the thigh and body will indicate doneness of the bird. It should read 190 degrees F. when the bird is done. A slow oven (225 degrees) is usually recommended as there is less shrinkage, resulting in a juicier bird. Twenty minutes to the pound is a fair estimate of time for roasting.

New Heaters Better Than Old

The National Electrical Manufacturers Association reports a tested new development—40-gallon Electric Water Heaters which out-perform models twice their size.

The quick-recovery Electric other in a single tank. It has two water heaters, one on top of the other in a single tank. It has two heating elements of 4,500 watts each, interlocked so only one is on at a time.

A counter-top model can be installed in the kitchen, or a tank-type model may be placed in any convenient corner or closet. This is especially important in new homes without basements.

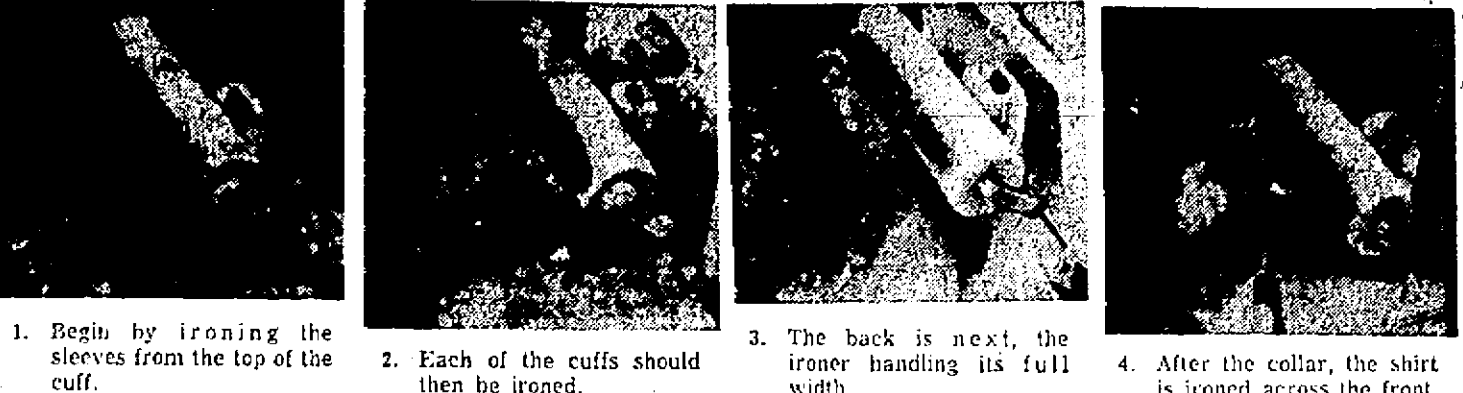

According to the Electric Water Heater Section of the Association, this new type heater has undergone rigorous torture tests, where a load of clothes was washed every hour all day long without running out of hot water.

Even if the family uses three times as much as the average, there is always ample hot water!

Clothing Economy

Dryer-dried clothes and household linens last longer than those line-dried, with better retention of fabric color and texture, and less loss of tensile strength.

Wrapping Of Appliance Gift Adds To Holiday Joy

It's easy to let Mom know that which Mother can melt butter on ping-pong ball make a jolly jack. Mother's pretty hands. Wrap the appliance for Christmas—even bright green gift paper with the machine in red, green and metallic paper, with a pale pink though she doesn't find it under handle uncovered. Draw white threads from the handle over the small hole in the pingpong ball pink gummed paper with variety Since an appliance is rather bulky, it can't easily be brought into the house and hidden away bones. seal, and trim with white rib-piped cleaner and attach to washer. Add stars and red signal dots for eyes and mouth, and a cone shaped cap of striped paper.

Refrigerator

A curled fringe of white crepe paper forms the snowy beard, the mustache and the fluffy tip of the red crepe paper cap placed on a small toy refrigerator. Blue notarial seals make the eyes, with nose and mouth of red gummed paper. These trimmings make both a jaunty Santa and a novel preview of a wonderful gift to come.

Hot Water Heater

Cologne to keep Mother cool and refreshed throughout the year heralds a new hot water heater. Wrap the cologne in pretreated crepe paper. It looks as though around the three sides of the box by pink crepe paper. Add a construction-paper thermometer and sink that will soon be there.

Washing Machine

A toy washing machine plus a dishwasher will help to beautify the family.

Freezer

A gift of a freezer wrap, useful in a new freezer, can take on a penguin look. Wrap the box in white crepe paper. A Christmas tree ball, covered with black and red crepe paper, placed on top of the head, and matching crepe paper becomes the jacket. Yellow gummed paper forms the webbed feet and beak.

Dryer

For a basket surprise, gather bright red cellophane around a tiny basket, like one used in the laundry room, that is filled with hankies for Mom. Tie with gay green ribbon and a bunch of shiny gold beads. The hankies can be the first things to be tried out in the new dryer.

'Wild West' Still Lives In Vienna

LOS ANGELES—Many people in Vienna still believe that Californians depend on buffalo meat for food, says a University of Southern California professor who recently returned from Austria.

"They get lots of rock 'n' roll and American movies," says Dr. Stanley R. Townsend, "but as for an authentic picture of America, they haven't got much farther than James Fenimore Cooper and the old westerns."

Ever serve spaghetti with nothing but butter and grated Parmesan or Romano cheese? It's wonderfully good!

Gleaming New Major Appliances
Mean Fun For All At Christmas

Fun for everyone. That's what a White Christmas will mean in your house this year. Gleaming new major appliances do more than just perform practical functions around your house to free Mom from her workday chores. They also provide a welcome springboard for joyous pastimes for the whole family.

For one thing, they can lead Dad to new hobbies and interests. Believe it or not, most men like to putter around the kitchen. Why not let him? Now, what with the easy-does-it features on modern ranges, he can cook and bake to his heart's content.

He may start bragging that he's as good a cook as you are, but let him believe it. Actually, he can't help but turn out delicious dishes with the help of the newest temperature guides, timers, thermostats, automatic controls and all the other functional features found on today's kitchen ranges—whether they are built-in or free standing.

They can make a good cook into a master chef in no more time than it takes to have a new range installed.

Fun With Safety
Even the children can have fun in the kitchen and be as safe as if they were in their own playrooms. Electronic ovens, for example, provide cooking safety never before known. The inside of the oven never gets hot, and as soon as the door of the oven is opened, all the power is automatically turned off.

Now the kids can help mommy prepare the Christmas dinner—or any other meal. For while she is stuffing the turkey, the little lady of the house can be baking her own special cake in the electronic oven. Cooking this fast, modern way, that cake will be done by the time the bird is ready for roasting.

The children can also begin to learn the art of cooking at an earlier age, because they don't have to be watched when they are using an electronic oven. And letting them do such "grown up" activities all alone, will make it a lot easier to call on them when mother needs some help around the house.

The youngsters will also delight at seeing their fuzzy toys "take a bath" in your new washing machine. They'll just thrill as the little pink elephants and brown doggies go tumbling across the window as they are being dried.

Laundry equipment takes care of cloth story books, too.

Freezer Party—The hostess can have as much fun as anyone at her Christmas party if she plans her menu ahead, does her preparing in advance, and stores her food in her freezer. The freezer will take good care of her food and have it ready and delicious at party-time without fuss.

with pretty papers and fancy ribbons as the hankies and perfumes. Just make sure that the item is properly freezer-wrapped before you dress it up with the holiday wrapping.

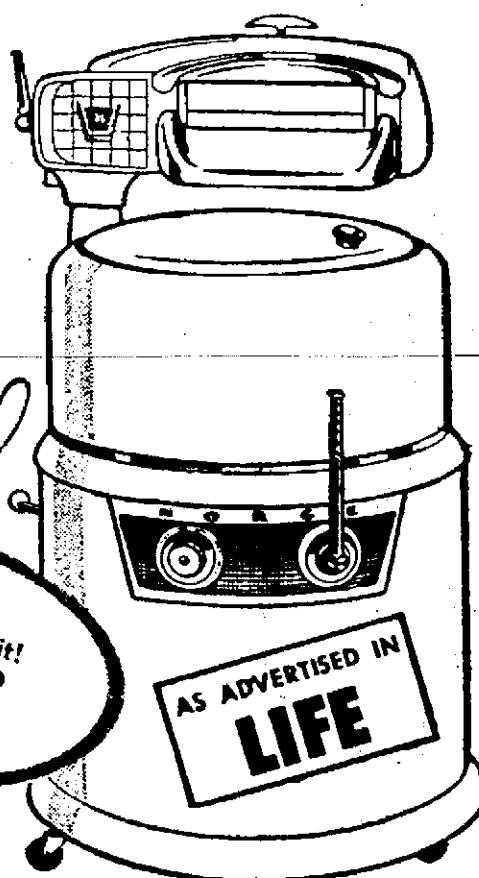

And if Aunt Minnie doesn't come, you will be able to take out the pie a few weeks after Christmas and serve it at the family dinner. Delicious as ever.

Since Christmas comes but once a year, make certain that you insure a joyous one by making it a White Christmas.

New Dimension
A new dimension can be added to your gift giving this Christmas that will be a lot of fun for the whole family. Everyone can get together one evening about a week before Christmas and "cook up" a few gifts. This is meant literally, because your range and freezer can be used to help prepare a few extra gifts for some friends who may drop in unannounced.

No pushing through large department store crowds for these gifts, either. The only crowded place will be the open and the top of your range as you bake delicious pies, cakes, candies, and other delicacies. You will have a lot of fun just deciding what flavor pie to bake in case Aunt Minnie drops in for a Yule visit; or whether to put a peach or pineapple filling in the cake.

Of course, the whole family can work together at helping Mom prepare these practical gifts.

Then there's no better place to hide your gifts than the freezer — and not because there's no room left in the closets, but because the freezer will keep your gift food items as fresh as the day you baked them.

For Joyous Yule

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—A pleasant mood and a productive tempo urged now. Much good can be achieved; new and unusual activities can be undertaken. First starts in business, manufacturing encouraged.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—You should find plenty of opportunities during this generous period. Take advantage of them. Your general know-how and specific talents are needed. As you earn, spend wisely; save, too.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—In correspondence, speeches, contracts, agreements, be circumspect, watch for flaws. Make changes and decisions cautiously.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 19 (Capricorn)—Your special planet Saturn in conjunction with Jupiter, resourcefulness, clever management, new ideas and promoting worthwhile endeavors all encouraged.

Slam Reached By Slow Steps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

How do you bid the South cards in match point duplicate after your partner opens with one spade?

Your first response is easy. You just bid two clubs. Your partner raises to three clubs and you certainly are interested in a slam. Maybe you should even get to seven!

There is another match point complication. Hearts count more than clubs and you want to explore heart possibilities also.

The hand should be easy, yet when it was played in the Hudson Valley championships at Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Wheatcroft of Kingston earned a top score by bidding six hearts.

Mrs. Wheatcroft held the South cards and her second bid was a jump to four hearts. This bid is most unusual but it worked perfectly. Mr. Wheatcroft visualized his wife's hand as a good six-card club suit plus a good five-card heart suit.

This left her with only two other cards and his aces would take care of them. There, he decided to get to six hearts but was a little afraid that a jump directly to the small slam might tempt his partner to go to seven.

Hence his five-diamond bid. This showed the ace of diamonds all right but did not encourage Mrs. Wheatcroft since she was void. All she bid was five hearts. Now Mr. Wheatcroft was able to close the bidding with six hearts.

There was nothing to the play. The heart finesse lost and exactly six was made.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more; subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Nature's Beauty Found In Planes

RIO DE JANEIRO—INS—The setting is almost as spectacular as the falls themselves, up some of nature's marvels that have previously been too inaccessible for the average tourist.

One of these is Iguaçu Falls, on the border of Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina. The grandeur of the falls, with 21 cataracts hurtling down as much as 300 feet, exceeds both Niagara and Victoria Falls. Their boom can be heard 16 miles away. The falls opened this autumn for the tourist are between 30 to 40 feet higher than Niagara and half again as mother nature while watching wide.

The advent of air travel and air tourists is responsible for a new, modern luxury hotel which has been built near the falls. The falls opened this autumn for the tourist are between 30 to 40 feet higher than Niagara and half again as mother nature while watching wide.

Court Upholds Probating Will From A Carbon Copy

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals, ruling in an Eastern Shore will case, says "does not permit a formally executed will to be revoked by verbal declarations."

It must be burned, cancelled, torn or obliterated, ruled the appellate judges in upholding a Wilcomico County Orphans' Court order.

The original, signed copy of the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Tilghman Smack of Salisbury was never produced and the lower court order admitted a carbon copy to probate.

John B. Tilghman, grandson of Mrs. Mary C. Tilghman, filed suit in her behalf to contest probating the carbon copy. Mrs. Tilghman, a patient at Eastern Shore State Hospital, was declared an incompetent.

Mrs. Tilghman, mother of Mrs. Smack, would have been sole heir if the court had ruled her daughter died intestate—without a will.

The will, as probated, bequeathed $2,000 to a friend, Ethelyn J. Maloney; $1,000 each to two cousins, Ida Morris and May Morris, and the remainder to the Parsons Home for the Aged.

The Appeals Court opinion said: "The evidence not only tends to show that the will was (in existence) at the time of (Mrs. Smack's death, but tends to show that it was last seen in the possession or custody of Mrs. Irma Tilghman . . . and her son, John B. Tilghman . . . These persons stood to benefit, directly or indirectly . . . Under such circumstances it is unnecessary to prove the contents of the lost will in detail."

BLAST WRECKS HOUSE—Shown in Augusta, Maine, are the remains of an apartment building following an explosion which injured Mrs. Helen Harriman, 70. She suffered second degree burns when the blast erupted in her home of three days. Firemen said the blast followed by three hours the connection of a gas stove in the apartment. (AP Photofax)
